Dying Girl Gets Her Last Wish

Melon Arrives By Airplane

A big watermelon was presented today to an 11-year-old North Robinson girl to satisfy one of her last two wishes before she died of cancer.

Frail little Maxine Rudd of the Crawford county village doesn't know that doctors hold no hope of her survival. But sick in bed, she asked for a new blue dress and a piece of watermelon.

Her mother, Mrs. James Rudd, made the dress and gave it to her several days ago. But Mrs. Rudd had no watermelons.

When the Red Cross learned that the blonde girl, who has had two major operations and is paralyzed from the waist down, wanted watermelon, it broadcast an appeal.

PAYS FOR MELON

George H. Roth of Hollywood, Fla., heard the request from a Cincinnati station. He agreed to pay costs having a melon delivered direct from the vine to Ohio. The "best and largest melon in Florida" was shipped to Maxine's house by airplane last night.

The child was stricken last July and operated on in Mansfield, her parents said. She was able to return to the sixth grade in school but was stricken again last December. Since that time, she has been able to attend school only for two days.

North Robinson is between Crestline and Bucyrus, about 22 miles west of Mansfield.

Raps Tobin As Lobbyist

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Secretary of Labor Tobin was accused today of lobbying in behalf of the administration's Taft-Hartley repeal bill in violation of a thirty-year-old section of the U. S. criminal code.

The National Association of Manufacturers, which made the charge, suggested that the cabinet member's activities may be a cause for his removal from office.

The NAM charges are based on Tobin's statement to a news conference that he and his aides have polled practically every member of Congress on the labor bill and are confident it will be enacted.

In its weekly paper, the manufacturers' association declared: "Apparently, Mr. Tobin's enthusiasm reaches the point where some think he envisions himself as the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, and in giving play to this enthusiasm Mr. Tobin seems to have overlooked the 30-year-old section 201 of the criminal code."

The NAM said this provision forbids the use of any money appropriated by Congress to influence in any manner congressional voting on any legislation.

U. S. Opposes Franco Aid

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(U.P.)—The United Press will oppose Franco Spain's entry into the Marshall plan or the North Atlantic pact at this time despite any move the current United Nations' assembly may make in Franco's favor, it was learned today.

This official American attitude toward Spain was disclosed as the UN ended a three-day holiday to take up work in Italy's former African colonies, and a Scandinavian plan to streamline assembly sessions.

The Balkan church trials are to be considered early this week by a special UN committee.

Browns Sue To Evict Cardinals

ST. LOUIS—(UP) — The St. Louis Browns today filed suit to evict the Cardinals from Sportsmen's park, owned by the Browns but used by both ball clubs.

Lon Hocker, jr., attourney for the Browns, said that the eviction suit asked that the present contract with the Cardinals be invalidated, that the National league team be barred from the park, and that damages of $222.500 be assessed against the Cardinals.

Thousands of Easter Paraders, Church-Goers Brave Snow, Cold

By NITA BRANSON

With traditional April caprice, the sun came out yesterday morning just long enough to start the annual Easter parade, then disappeared behind clouds that by afternoon shed snow and rain on paraders.

Thousands of Mansfield worshippers jammed the city's churches, overflowing into the aisles to hear the Easter message of Christ's resurrection. Beginning at 6 a. m. when worshippers left their homes for sunrise services in at least a dozen sanctuaries, until well past the noon hour, gayly costumed crowds strolled Mansfield's streets.

One of the most colorful parades of the morning was the annual Knights Templar march up Main street for traditional sunrise services. The services were held at the First Methodist church where a capacity audience heard Rev. Charles W. Stoneburner preach on the theme, "From Glory to Glory."

More than 200 Knights attended the service and at least 125 marched in their plumed hats and uniforms to the music of the Temple band.

Rev. Stoneburner compared the glory of the creation with that of the resurrection, which he declared was the measure of God's love.

"Today is the day of life and life is glorious. God started the world in a great burst of glory. Man had to learn of the glory of God and man is still learning," Rev. Stoneburner said.

"The Christ we know is not on the cross. The Christ we know is the Christ of every-day living. His death would have been a terrific tragedy if He had not risen. The resurrection of Christ makes the resurrection power of God the greatest story of all history."

Music for the service was presented by the choir with Mrs. Kenneth Erb as soloist. Members sang, "I Heard a Soldier Talking," by Kemmer, and "When the Sabbath Was

Exposure Blamed In Girl's Death

Body Discovered In Ohio Field

SPRINGFIELD — (AP) — Three-year-old Sandy Robison died of exposure, coroner Austin Richards ruled today.

The body of the little girl, missing since last Thursday afternoon, was found in a field three-quarters of a mile from her home yesterday.

The coroner gave exposure as the primary cause of death, and listed as a secondary cause "possible beginning of pneumonia." He estimated death occurred early Friday morning.

Coroner Richards agreed with Sheriff J. Arthur Shuman that the girl had wandered away from the farm home west of here. They said it was possible she became lost in the darkness and could not find the farm house.

About 300 volunteer Clark county firemen joined in the search yesterday. Authorities said Sunday was a day off for the volunteers and it gave them a chance "to check all angles again."

The body, found in an open field on the Earl Foster farm, bore no marks of violence, Fire Chief John Frank of Donnelsville, one of the searchers, said.

Sandy had lived most of her life with the Fosters. Her mother is in a hospital and her father, William Robison, 33, has been missing about three weeks.

Before the girl's body was found, Clark county Sheriff J. Arthur Shuman said he believed there may have been a connection between the disappearance of both the father and the daughter.

The last time Sandy has seen alive, she was playing in a swing in the Foster front yard Thursday afternoon.

Foster said the field in which Sandy was found had been searched thoroughly a few hours after her disappearance.

Bryan Slayer 'Sheltered' At Ohio Pen

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Ervin (Bud) Ingle, 15, sentenced to life for murder in the death of an elderly Bryan woman, will be "sheltered" from more hardened inmates at the Ohio penitentiary, Warden Ralph W. Alvis said today.

Ingle entered the penitentiary over the week end to start serving the sentence for the murder of Mrs. Pearl Gabriel, 56, last May 5. He is the youngest inmate behind the walls of the institution.

"We are going 99 per cent of the way toward helping the boy find himself and giving him something worthwhile to do while he's here," the warden said.

The youth will have selected cell mates and will attend the prison school where he will study bookkeeping, typing and shorthand, Alvis said.

Although Ingle is the youngest inmate now in the Ohio penitentiary, he is not the youngest prisoner ever confined in the institution. Daniel Rosenbecker, a 12-year-old, was sentenced in 1902 from Lucas county. He served about 10 years for manslaughter.

Ingle will be eligible for parole in 20 years.

CANCER VIRUS ISOLATED—Columbia university scientists believe they are on threshold of new discoveries in fight against dread cancer of the breast, which attacks about one in 25 women. Biochemists of the university's new Institute of Cancer Research have isolated cancer virus in milk of mice and magnified it by electronic microscope. From there they hope to find way to reduce the disease.

Inspector Starts Work

Columbus Man To Check Food Supplies

The Mansfield-Richland County health department's newly-appointed food inspector reported for work today.

The new employe, James P. Loomis, of Columbus, fills a position created several weeks ago by the city and county board of health.

Closer health department control of Richland county restaurants is foreseen with the appointment.

Loomis will receive a salary of $2,400 annually, plus traveling expenses. Two-thirds of the sum will be assumed by the city and the other one-third by the county.

A World War II veteran, he served in food inspection work with the army in Calcutta, India. He attended Wittenberg college and is completing an in-service training course in sanitation conducted by the state department of health.

Lay Keel For Biggest Carrier

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. — (AP) — The keel of the USS United States, world's largest aircraft carrier, was laid here at the Newport News shipbuilding and dry dock today.

Workmen moving the massive keel plates of the $186,000,000 ship into the giant building dock gave indication that the ship is designed to handle long range bombers.

Key Viruses Found

One Kills Cancer, Other Produces It

NEW YORK—(UP)—Important gains in the battle against cancer were marked up today by medical science.

One victory on the front where scientists tediously work in the laboratory was the week-end report that a virus has been found that will destroy cancerous growth in mice.

A virus is a submicroscopic agent, a parasite that cannot live by itself—but must get its nourishment from tissue around it. One particular type of virus—that which causes a form of encephalitis, a paralyzing disease—has been "turned loose" on cancers in mice at Memorial Hospital Center for Cancer and Allied Diseases.

Dr. Alice Moore, reporting at the American Association for Cancer Research, said that at least three types of mouse cancer can be killed by the virus. It is the first time that a virus has been known to have such powers.

The virus, she disclosed, has an affinity for cancerous growth. In laboratory tests, it was found, however, that the virus also attacks normal tissue after the cancer has been destroyed, but Memorial doctors are hopeful that the activity of the virus can be checked after the "good work" is done.

Another victory in the cancer fight came from Columbia university where scientists have isolated another virus—but this one apparently doesn't stop cancer. It causes cancer.

The virus, appearing as a white sphere under the powerful electron microscope, has long been suspected as female mice pass breast cancer susceptibility along to their female offspring. The Columbia scientists reported that their new work confirms the theory that a virus causes breast cancer in mice.

The isolation and identification, Columbia pointed out, will give scientists means to study better the chemical makeup of the virus and its behavior. It may also mean that a vaccine against cancer in mice may be developed.

Over the week end there were also reports of new chemicals retarding the growth of cancer in mice. One such new chemical was identified at a meeting in Detroit as Guanazolo, which was reported by Dr. George W. Kidder, Amherst college biologist. The chemical is the newest one to be reported as effective against cancer in mice.

Many of the film industry's great are expected to attend the funeral in the church of the Recessional at 10:30 a. m. in the Memorial park.

Bootleggers Get Blame

Two Held In Easter Murder

SHIELDS, Ky. — (UP) — Authorities today blamed bootleggers for the slaying of another Harlan county police chief who was shot as he stepped from his automobile on Main Street of Shields, Ky., a small mining town.

The latest victim was unpaid County Police Chief Ambrose Metcalfe, 29, who was killed yesterday while out on a Sunday afternoon drive with his wife and two-year-old son.

Authorities said the circumstances were similar to those in the death of Police Chief E. J. Baumgardner of Evarts, two miles north of here, a town which has had six police chiefs in the last eight months.

Metcalfe, who was serving without pay pending a court decision, was shot five times as he stepped from his car in front of a restaurant which he had raided several times in search of liquor.

Arthur Jackson, the restaurant owner, and Ford Sizemore were arrested a few hours later by state police. They were taken to Bell county jail at Pineville on their own request. They denied any part in the shooting.

The incident was reminiscent of the shooting last fall of Evarts' police chief Baumgardner, who took that post after resigning as Metcalfe's deputy. Baumgardner was fatally shot by Bryan Middleton, Evarts cafe owner, who later was killed in a gun battle with police chief number five, Isachar Combs.

Egg Hunt Set For Afternoon

The annual Easter egg hunt, which the Volunteers of America were to have held Saturday, was scheduled to take place today at 3 p. m. at South Park, Lt. Major R. L. Gutterman announced.

Hundreds of children are expected to hunt for the brightly-decorated Easter symbols among the woodsy places in South Park. Staff members were busy this morning hiding the eggs among the leaves and behind tree stumps and stones in the park area.

Prizes will be given for the children who find the most eggs.

It's 'Play Ball!' Day

Truman to Make Traditional Pitch

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— Baseball came out of winter hibernation today with the opening of the major league season scheduled in Washington and Boston, weather permitting.

After a gloomy winter—climaxed by the threatened loss of its greatest contemporary star, Joe DiMaggio—the national pastime was off on a seven-month twirl to be climaxed by the World Series in October.

President Truman was to throw out the ceremonial first ball at Washington where the Senators meet the Philadelphia Athletics in the American league. Ford Frick, president of the National league, was to open his group's campaign at Boston where the defending champion Braves played the Philadelphia Phillies.

Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees was conspicuous by his absence as the season began. Rated the game's greatest present-day player, DiMaggio was in Baltimort undergoing treatment for a heel ailment which may end his career.

But even DiMaggio's woes were forgotten for the moment as the "game today" pennants fluttered atop Griffith stadium and Braves field. Tomorrow they will be better remembered when the remainder of the teams begin play—Cleveland at St. Louis, Chicago at Detroit, Washington at New York and Boston at Philadelphia in the American league and New York at Brooklyn, St. Louis at Cincinnati, Pittsburgh at Chicago and Philadelphia at Boston in the National league.

In addition to the feared loss of DiMaggio, baseball began its 1949 season facing threatening lawsuits. Players suspended in 1946 for jumping to the Mexican league are suing for damages totaling $2,800,000. Should they win, the game's entire player-contract system must be overhauled.

The ceremony of having the Chief Executive throw out the first pitch began with William Howard Taft in 1910.

Calling All Penguin Pursuers!

MERCHANTVILLE, N. J.—(INS)—New Jersey's state police have broadcast an alarm for a couple of fugitive penguins which escaped from a truck between New York's La Guardia airport and Highstown, N. J.

It seems there were eight penguins in all on their way to Warren Buck, Merchantville animal importer. They chewed their way to freedom through the wire sides of their crate, but six birds were so stunned by their jump from the truck, they were quickly recaptured.

The other two, made of sturdier stuff, left the highway and vanished.

Burglar Caught In Meat Cooler

Man Apprehended At Kearns Plant

Police spent a busy Easter week-end with the investigation of two strong-arm robberies, a foiled burglary of the Kearns Packing company and a car ransacking.

A 44-year-old Crystal Spring avenue man was held in city jail today for investigation after he was captured in a cooler at the packing company about 2 a. m. Sunday by W. E. Peters, night engineer at the plant.

Peters, who held the man captive at the plant until police arrived, said the man had taken 13 pounds of sausage from the cooler. The sausage was valued at $5.20. Peters said he discovered the man in the refrigerator vault during his check of the plant. Peters told police that another cooler had been pried open but no meat had been disturbed.

Police said the burglar gained admittance to the plant by using the fire-escape leading to a back window. The suspect told police he was accompanied by another man who disappeared during the burglary.

Police identified the victims of strong-armed robberies as Walter E. Campbell, 232 Orange street, and John Drake Smith jr., 122 East Fourth street.

GRABBED AROUND NECK

Campbell reported to police at 3:11 a. m. Sunday that a man walked up behind him, grabbed him around the neck and took a billford from his left hip pocket. Campbell said he was walking on Orange street about 150 feet from his home.

Campbell said the billfold contained $2 and papers. Police later found the empty billfold in Campbell's front yard.

Smith reported to police at 4 a. m. today that a man who forced his way into Smith's car in front of his home, robbed him of his billfold and watch. The billfold, Smith said, contained no money, but he valued the watch at $39.

John Stuff, 136 East Sixth street, reported to police that $21 worth of accessories were stolen from his car between 9 p. m. Saturday and 1 a. m. Sunday while the car was parked at the rear of 146 East Fifth street. Stuff said the car was unlocked.

Four Slain In Gunfight

PULLMAN, Wash. — (AP) — A 24-year-old merchant killed three police officers and another posseman before he was shot dead in a two-hour Easter Sunday gunfight.

The man who went "berserk" when an officer tried to arrest him, Police Chief Arthur Ricketts said, was George McIntyre. He was a boy scout troop leader and an "expert" marksman in the army during the war.

Ricketts said McIntyre bit one man severely in a downtown field yesterday. Then he shot an officer who tried to arrest him and clubbed the policeman as he lay dying.

When a posse closed in on McIntyre near his home, opened fire with a German sharpshooter's rifle equipped with telescopic sights. He killed three man and wounded another with this and another rifle before the posse's bullets killed him.

Goal Topped

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The 1949 fund raising drive of the American Red Cross went over the top. E. Roland Harriman, chairman of the national drive, reported last night $62,200,000 has been subscribed. The goal was $60,000,000.

Malinin Coming to U.S., Claim

Blockade, Pact Rumored Topic

LONDON—(INS)—Reports reached London from Berlin today that the Soviets have dispatched a special envoy to Washington for discussions centering around the North Atlantic pact and the Berlin blockade.

Reuters and the London Daily Mail identified him as Gen. Georgi V. Malinin, former Soviet deputy chief of staff in Germany.

Malinin's departure coincided with reports that Russia is making proposals looking toward a lifting of the blockade. The reports indicated that Malinin may be carrying a formal offer to Washington.

(In Washington, state department spokesman Michael J. McDermott said he had heard nothing of such a report, the latest of a series of rumors about lifting the blockade. He recalled that Secretary of State Acheson last week, referring to another report, had commented that all avenues of communication are open to the Russians.)

(In Berlin, U. S. military officials denied Berlin press reports that the Russians are seeking a way to lift the blockade.

(Philip Hawkins, deputy military government economic adviser, said there is "absolutely no indication" of any such move although the Russians are attempting to have the western powers lift their counter-blockade.

CLAY SAYS 'NO'

(Military Governor Gen. Lucius D. Clay has said repeatedly there is no sign of any reduction in Soviet blockade pressure.)

The Berlin reports on Malinin said he left by air yesterday, dressed in plain clothes and accompanied by an aide.

Malinin was said to be seeking first-hand information regarding the Atlantic Pact and its effects upon western Europe, particularly the western zones of Germany.

Malinin is a leading soviet financial expert and a trusted friend of the politburo.

He is generally considered as chief financial adviser on Berlin with wide powers on questions of policy.

A German source was quoted as saying, however, that the blockade is not one of the main topics to be discussed in Washington.

Reuters said that Soviet military government circles were not willing to state whether Malinin would attempt to see Secretary of State Acheson. It was learned that he had important consultations with Soviet Military Governor Marshal Chuikov and Ambassador Semeonov before leaving.

BLOCKADE BEATEN

The Evening Star reported that the U.S., Great Britain and France have agreed to act in the future on the assumption that the Berlin blockade need no longer be considered as a serious bargaining factor in any new discussions with Russia.

This is said to be because of the airlift's success.

Expectation of such a policy is believed to have been responsible for a Soviet-inspired whispering campaign about the likelihood of four-power negotiations being resumed.

(Germans in the Soviet zone reportedly are pressuring Soviet authorities to lift the Berlin blockade because the international impasse over the former German capital has brought about disastrous economic consequences.

(A British army reported that Germans in the eastern zone want to resume trade with west Germany and have put the heat on the Soviets to resume normal relations.)

Give Funds To Make Bikes Safer

Jaycees to Help Buy Luminous Tape

Night-time bicycling will be safer in Mansfield soon because of a program announced today by the Mansfield Junior Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the YMCA, the Optimist club and several other civic organizations.

A luminous "scotch tape" will be applied, to about 2,000 bicycles. Jaycee and Hi-Y members will schedule each school for a certain "taping" date at which sections of the handlebars, front fork, and rear fender will be treated so they may be seen easily at night.

Cost of the project will be from 15 to 20 cents per bike. Proceeds of the Jaycee-sponsored "The Best Is Yet to Come" show April 26 in the Senior high auditorium will pay for the safety measure. The show will feature Buddy Moreno and his band with 10 vaudeville acts.

This luminous tape to be applied to bicycles can be seen by motorists from any angle of approach. The tape, once attached, becomes a permanent part of the bike.

Jaycee officials said they have pledged $60 from the show proceeds to help finance the rat-control campaign being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

3 Injured In County Mishaps

Hit-Skipper Hurts Girl, 5

BULLETIN

SPRINGFIELD —(U.P.)— Mrs. Lillian Grubb, of Elyria, was killed and eight other persons were injured in a two-car collision three miles south of South Charleston, early today. The car in which Mrs. Grubb was riding collided with a car loaded with six Miami university students returning to college from their Easter vacation, the state highway patrol said.

A Cincinnati truck driver was killed near West Salem early today. Two Mansfielders and a Galion resident were injured in traffic accidents during the week end.

Twenty-three fatalities were reported on Ohio's highways as week-end accidents took a heavy toll during the Easter holiday.

Included in the toll was four-year-old Mary Anne Rathburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Rathburn, 258 Saxton road, fatally injured when struck by a pick-up truck about 9:20 a. m. Saturday. Funeral services for the child will be held at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday at St. Peter's Catholic church with burial in Mansfield Catholic cemetery.

Killed when his semi-trailer truck crashed into a parked truck, three miles southwest of West Salem about 6:45 a. m. today was William G. Marks, 23, Cincinnati.

Officers of the Medina state highway patrol post said Marks apparently had fallen asleep in his truck since the brakes had not been applied. The cab of Marks' truck reportedly was crushed into a 10-inch width.

Patrolmen said the truck driven by Marks crashed into another truck parked along the highway and loaded with plate glass. The parked truck, officers said, had been sideswiped in an accident and was damaged. Marks' body was removed to the Denbow-Bear funeral home in Ashland pending notification of relatives.

HURT IN CITY

Injured in or near Mansfield were:

Linda Lou Lambert, 5, of 180 Raymond avenue, injured Saturday night when struck by a hit-skip car in front of her home.

Mrs. Ross Meredith, 49, of 224½ West Third street, injured in a two-car collision at Lucas last night.

Louis Lane of Galion, injured early Sunday when the car in which he was riding hit a bridge on the Lexington-Ontario road.

The Lambert child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Lambert, was reportedly struck by a Model A Ford as she was playing near the curb with her brother, Clinton, 8. The father, who reported the accident to police Saturday night, said the child suffered abrasions of the arms and legs. Lambert told police the hit-skip car had wire spoke wheels.

Mrs. Meredith, reported in fair condition today at General hospital, suffered a dislocated shoulder at 6:45 p. m. Sunday when her husband attempted to pass a car driven by Robert Harvey, Lucas, R. D. 1. State highway patrolmen said the accident occurred about 200 feet north of Lucas on State Route 39.

Officers said the Meredith car struck the rear of the Harvey car.

Lane, who was treated at Galion city hospital for forehead lacerations, was injured about 12:30 a. m. Sunday when the car in which he was riding hit a bridge on the Lexington-Ontario road.

W. S. Volz, a resident of the road, said Lane and the driver, whose name he did not obtain, came to his house following the accident. Volz took both men to the Galion hospital and reported the accident to sheriff's deputies.

State fatalities included:

Four members of an Indiana family were killed when their car skidded on wet pavement and crashed into a tree on U. S. Route 24 near Napoleon Sunday.

Henry County Sheriff Fred Bartels identified the dead as Francis C. Viel, 28, his wife, Rosemary, 25, and their daughters. Theresa Ann, 6, and Frances Marie, 2. Injured were two other children, William Charles, 16 months, and Mary Madge, four weeks.

1949 Easter a Good One, Men Didn't Meet God In Foxholes

THIS WAS a nice Eastertide, because men didn't have to talk to God alone in a foxhole.

This hasn't been necessary for some four years. In crowded small church or tall cathedral of Christian lands families can worship Jesus in peace.

But many an ex-soldier, looking at the young son kneeling beside him, wondered:

"Will my boy some day have to—as I did—pray alone at this time in some place of war?"

And he offered up a small silent prayer of his own that this won't happen. And the prayers were said in many languages — English, French, Dutch, Russian, German, Italian.

Easter has a peculiar niche in the heart of men in combat. At Christmas thoughts of religion aren't in their minds so much as the memories of their families. The broken packages full of small gifts come, and they are homesick to the bone.

But at Easter the story of Christ, his death and rebirth, stirred the doughboy of the second world war deeply. Part of it, perhaps, was tied up also with the rebirth of the particular land he was fighting across. He could lie in his muddy foxhole and see the green spears of grass springing from the winter-locked earth.

I don't know how the fighter pilot felt at Easter, climbing a tranquil sky. Probably he felt like the poet-airman who wrote he had the sensation of being almost able to reach out and touch the hand of God.

But I do know how many of the walking soldiers felt. Some came to believe that they understood the Galilean carpenter better than anybody. For the infantryman suffers most in war, and lives on faith.

They came closer to him through the kinship of agony.

It isn't true, of course, that there were no atheists in foxholes. But the atheist was a particularly lonely man at Easter. His foxhole held only a man with an animal desire to keep on living. But the foxhole next to him held that and something more—a man with faith that if he were killed there was a spiritual life beyond.

I don't know that this made any difference to a German artillery shell. But it made a difference to the two men.

Wherever possible, the front line soldiers were brought back a few thousand yards at Easter, a group at a time, to attend brief religious services. This gave them a respite from rifle and mortar fire. But they were still within enemy bombardment range.

Once I attended one of these services in a clearing in a cork forest in northern Tunisia. After it was over a grimy infantryman said to me thoughtfully:

"You know this must puzzle God. We come out of the lines to pray to him. On the other side the Germans must be doing the same thing. Everybody praying for peace.

"But when we're through we go right back into the lines and start trying to kill each other again. Does that make sense to God? It doesn't to me."

Well, this year the problem doesn't exist. And that is the blessing of Easter—1949.

Army Voices Recruit Plea

The Mansfield Army recruiting office today voiced a plea for more men.

It was less than three months ago that the same office had set up a "waiting list" for men wishing to join the nation's ground forces.

Today, Master Sgt. Charles W. Bates, non-com in charge of the office, said the "waiting list" is no more.

Along with enlistments in the Army, Bates also pointed out the U. S. Air Force has reopened its Air Cadet program.

An Air Cadet recruiter will be at the Mansfield Army recruiting office, 31½ North Main street, Wednesday, Bates said. He will discuss with men the possibilities of signing up to be an officer and a pilot in the U. S. Air Force.

200 See Earth Turned For Church Edifice

The bad weather was no deterrent to the 200 happy members of the First Congregational church who stood yesterday afternoon in the snow and rain to watch ground-breaking ceremonies for their new church home at Marion avenue and Millsboro road.

Promptly at 3:30 p. m. the junior and senior choirs, Rev. Matthew G. Madden, pastor of the church and church officials started marching from the Marion avenue side of the site to the spot where the ceremony was to take place on Millsboro road. As they marched, carrying both the American and the church flags, they sang. "The Church's One Foundation."

Rev. Arthur F. Lindbeck, pastor of the Mayflower Congregational church, began the service with invocation. Then Rev. Madden read three letters, two from former pastors and one from the wife of a former pastor.

Mrs. O. L. Kiplinger, Rev. Harry Trust and Rev. Peter Young expressed joy at the fruition of the church members' dream in again having their own church home after seven years of worshipping in other churches of the city.

Rev. Madden spoke briefly, expressing gratification over the success of plans for a new church home.

"In just such weather as this," Rev. Madden said. "Congregationalism probably was founded in New England. We have a great tradition to follow. Externally, we have not much to talk about yet but internally we have an immense will to do good and to promote Christian fellowship."

Then he presented the chromium-covered spade to Rufus Tracy, oldest member of the church, who turned the first shovelful of earth for the new edifice.

Tracy, a member of the church for 70 years, was cited by Rev. Madden as having given the first money he earned from selling apples to the First Congregational church.

As Tracy completed the turning of the earth, the crowd broke into applause, then sang the doxology.

5 Schools Add Day To Vacation

Pupils of five county school districts had an extra day off today as part of an Easter vacation.

Schools closed today included Butler, Lexington, Plymouth, Springfield and Shiloh. These will reopen tomorrow.

County Supt. of Schools Boyd Robinson said schools open today were Madison township schools, Mifflin, Lucas and Union.

Shelby and Sharon schools were closed and will resume Wednesday.

Robinson explained that county schools do not have an extended Easter vacation as in city schools because the term ends about two weeks earlier to permit the older children to help around their parents' farms.

Regulations provide, he pointed out, that there be 180 school days in the school year.

Boys Re-live Day at Camp

65 YMCA Youths Gather For Reunion

Sixty-five boys re-lived their summer at YMCA Camp Nelson Dodd at the YMCA camp reunion Saturday. The boys went through a typical day at camp from 1:30 p. m. until 5.

The day's program started off with reveille and a morning dip. This was followed by a brief worship service, after which camp activities such as leather craft, model plane building, Indian lore, archery, and nature study were demonstrated.

The boys took a swim in the pool and life saving was explained. The swim was followed by a period of volleyball, handball, ping-pong, and basketball.

Al Deiss, camp director, and Lois Jisa, camp committee chairman, then addressed the campers and showed a movie of Nelson Dodd camp.

The day was finished off with a similated around-the-fire meeting. The boys all had candles and gathered around a wood-log prop in which a red light glowed. The day ended with taps in the "Y" gymnasium.

Each camper was given a souvenir pencil with a Nelson Dodd pennant attached.

Two Contests Today Open '49 Schedule

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK—(AP)—The big league baseball season opens today with prospects of a six-team jamboree in the National and a Boston-Cleveland race in the American.

Only four teams see action this afternoon in the first of the double opening programs, but all 16 will be busy tomorrow—the first full schedule day.

President Harry Truman, an ambidextrous first ball pitcher, will be present to watch Washington tangle with the Philadelphia A's in the customary Griffith stadium opener a day before the rest of the American league. A crowd of about 31,000 is expected.

After the President does his work, Rae Scarborough will shoulder the job of trying to pitch Washington to victory. He will be opposed by Dick Fowler of the A's.

Boston also gets a special opening day for its National league champion Braves. Tomorrow is Patriots' day in Boston. That always calls for a doubleheader. As the Braves did not want to open with a double, they received permission for an early starter with the improved Philadelphia Phils.

SAIN TO PITCH

Johnny Sain, 24-game winner for the '48 champs, will oppose the veteran Ken Heintzelman at Braves field, where the World Series ended in a Boston defeat last Oct. 11. Some 15,000 are expected.

Most of the experts, and managers, too, think the Braves are in for a tough battle from Brooklyn, Pittsburgh and St. Louis but only Cincinnati and Philadelphia are counted out.

Manager Lou Boudreau's Cleveland Indians will lead with Bobby Feller, against the St. Louis Browns and Ned Garver at Sportsman's park tomorrow in their first game.

The Boston Red Sox, eager to get away to a better start than last year, pry off the lid at Philadelphia against the Athletics. Joe Dobson of the Sox will oppose Lou Brissie.

Ed Lopat, the chunky southpaw who has a rep as a slow starter, gets the opening assignment at the Yankee stadium tomorrow against Sid Hudson, whose spring work for Washington has been outstanding.

The stadium crowd of some 50,000 probably will be tops for the nine openers. It is expected that the two-league total today and tomorrow will be about 280,000.

Detroit may match the Yanks' 50,000 when Haw Newhouser opposes Chicago's Al Gettel or Randy Gumpert in Red Rolfe's managerial debut.

FULL SCHEDULE

After the Phils-Braves opener today, the National leage swings into a full schedule tomorrow with New York at Brooklyn, Pittsburgh at Chicago, St. Louis at Cincinnati and the doubleheader between the Phils and Braves.

Burt Shotton will give Lefty Joe Hatten the opening assignment against the Giants. Larry Jansen, Durocher's only dependable pitcher, will face Hatten.

St. Louis probably will use Red Munger against Cincinnati's Ken Raffensberger at Crosley field.

Rip Sewell, who has won nine straight opening games, is Bill Mayer's likely Pittsburgh starter against Dutch Leonard, the Cubs' knuckler.

HANDICAPPED TWOSOME—Field Marshal Earl Wavell (right), former viceroy of India who lost an eye in France during World War I, and his son, Major Viscount Keren, who has only one hand, walk to the first green in the father-son golf tournament at Brookwood, Eng. They won the tournament. Wavell's son lost his left arm in an African desert battle in World War II.

Reds Lose to Indianapolis But Vandy Proves Arm OK

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—(U.P.)—Southpaw Johnny Vander Meer, who had been bothered by a charley horse, pitched batting practice here yesterday and indicated he would be ready to hurl for the Cincinnati Reds against the St. Louis Cardinals on Thursday. The Reds bowed to Indianapolis of the American association, 5 to 1.

Manager Bucky Walters said he is going to give the same team which failed to hit much in the final three training games an opportunity to snap out of it by playing against the Cardinals tomorrow.

Millard Howell hit better than he pitched against Indianapolis yesterday.

SCORE FOUR RUNS

Walters started Howell on the mound in that game, hoping he would show that he is entitled to start a league game against the Pittsburgh Pirates in Pittsburgh Friday. The Indianapolis batsmen, however, jumped him for four runs in the first inning and went on from there to win.

Millard drove in Cincinnati's only run with a triple high against the right-center fence after his catcher, Homer Howell, had walked with one out in the second inning. His triple carried more than 400 feet before banging against the well.

The Reds won 17 training games, lost 14 and tied one before a total of 62,465 paid admissions. They broke even, 13-13, with major league clubs. Against minor league teams they won four, lost one and tied one.

In their 32 games, the Reds outscored their opposition, 167 runs to 134, with their record against major league teams adding up to 139 runs to 123.

Kenny Raffensberger will open the season for the Reds with all his mates confident his southpaw slants will be effective enough to win, provided they can back him up with a little hitting.

Big 9 Track Teams to Open This Saturday

CHICAGO — (INS) — All nine western conference track squads break open their outdoor schedules with a quartet of meets next Saturday.

The big one will be a quadrangular affair among Northwestern, Michigan, Iowa and the host Illinois team at Champaign, Ill., but fans will have to look elsewhere for the reportedly top-calibre stuff.

Ohio State, the defending outdoor champion, is host to Purdue in a dual meet, and Wisconsin, co-indoor champion with Ohio, will have entrants in the Kansas relays, as will Minnesota, Indiana rounds out the program with a dual meet at Miami (Ohio.)

The following weekend's Penn and Drake relays will absorb the time of all Big Nine entries. Indiana, Michigan and Ohio State are at the Philadelphia event, the others at Des Moines.

The conference finals are at Northwestern May 20 and 21, after which Big Nine entrants will have the following post-season chores:

Central collegiates at Milwaukee, June 4; NCAA championships at Southern California June 17-18; dual Big Nine-Pacific coast conference meet at California June 21; and the national AAU championships at Fresno, Cal., June 24-25.

DiMag to See Yank Opener

BALTIMORE — (AP) — Joe DiMaggio — sore heel and all — expects to be in New York tomorrow when his Yankee mates open their 1949 baseball season.

Dr. George E. Bennett, who's been treating the $100,000-a-year out-fielder at Johns Hopkins hospital, said last night his famed patient is "doing very well."

He declined to say whether x-ray treatments for calcium deposits in the right heel would be discontinued here and resumed in New York after Joe arrives there tomorrow.

Jumps to Third

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. — (AP) — Fred Walther of Lima, O., bowling 655, jumped to third place over the weekend in the Elks national bowling tournament.

Bob Feller Tuesday Is Lou's Choice

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—Cleveland's bedraggled Indians, battered and bruised with a two-defeat week-end hangover, headed for St. Louis today for their getaway feature in the 1949 American league pennant dash.

With the exhibition season behind them, and thankfully so, the Indians were to arrive in St. Louis late today for a few hours of leisure before they take the field against the Browns tomorrow in the season lid-lifter for both clubs.

SELDOM SEEN

A crowd of 20,000, the likes of which seldom are seen in Sportsman's park, is expected to crowd into the ball grounds to watch the Tribe take on the Browns.

Bob Feller is the starting choice of Manager Lou Boudreau, who will be starting his eighth season as Cleveland manager, and the fireball king will be opposed by Ned Garver, 23-year-old St. Louis ace from Ney, O.

Eight-to-five favorites to repeat for the world's baseball championship, the Indians will be playing for keeps come tomorrow. Such was not the case over the past week end, fortunately, when the Tribesmen were cuffed by the New York Giants, 10-9, Saturday, and 8-3, Sunday.

The usually robust-hitting Indians suddenly lost their batting eyes yesterday against New York's two aces, Sheldon Jones and Andy Hansen.

The Indians failed to get a hit for five innings, and by the time they got going the Giants already had belted starter Frank Papish for eight game-winning runs.

HITTING STARS

Willard Marshall and Bobby Thompson, hard-hitting New York outfielders, did most of the dirty work against Papish. Each got three hits apiece, and Marshall drove in six runs all by himself. Bob Lemon pitched the final three innings for the Tribe and gave up but one hit in his impressive tour of duty.

While the Giants were clouting Papish for three runs in the second inning, two in the fourth and three in the fifth, the Indians found the going rough indeed.

They finally broke the ice in the sixth, however, with a pair of tallies on three singles wrapped around a pair of infield outs. Dale Mitchell's triple followed by Larry Doby's double accounted for Cleveland's eighth-frame marker.

The two clubs drew 10,624 fans yesterday to raise Cleveland's spring attendance total to 243,904 for 35 games, a new baseball record.

The two week-end defeats left Cleveland with but a slim 8-7 victory edge over the Giants for the 1949 training period, and an all-time mark of 88 wins against 83 losses.

Six More Schools Enter 18th Relays

Six more teams listing 79 individual performers signed up today for the 18th annual Mansfield Relays.

Bad weather has slowed down entries as coaches have had trouble picking their squads. However, Director Harry Mehock expects a heavy influx of teams in the next three days. Mehock says the entry list will soar to 70 teams and over 1,000 performers.

Many coaches have written Mehock saying they will be here for the big track and field festival Friday and Saturday at Stadium field but they're not considered in the fold until the official entry blanks arrive in Mansfield.

Latest batch of entries include: Napoleon, 5; Cleveland Central, 24; Brooklyn Village, 17; Ada, 2; Westerville, 6 and Mansfield Senior high school, 25.

Senior high, one of the favorites for the crown, gets its last tune up tomorrow afternoon when it runs at Newark. The Tygers have won three straight duel meets by top heavy margins and should have little trouble duplicating against Newark.

The Wildcats have won only one of three meets, taking over Lancaster, Newark lost to Columbus Central, 72 to 40 and Columbus East, 61 to 57. Mansfield kayoed East, 92 to 26, and came in ahead of Central in last Saturday's Springfield Relays.

PLAN TO ENTER

Springfield won the event with 64½ points while Mansfield had 60 and Central, 42½. Central, Springfield and Newark all plan to send in their Mansfield Relays entries this week.

Bob McVey, Newark veteran, has been shifted to the hurdles and figures to give A. C. Jenkins quite a battle over both timber events. Last year in a dual meet, McVey shaded Mansfield's Tommy Tucker in the 100-yard dash but the places were reversed in the 220.

Derby Rivals To Battle In Saturday Race

NEW YORK — (AP) — Capot came back from Maryland today after polishing off five rivals in the Chesapeake stakes, prepared to meet up with Olympia and others in the Classic Wood Memorial Saturday at Jamaica.

Unless all signs fail, the affair between the no. 1 and no. 2 Kentucky Derby future book favorites should be something to watch.

Capot, pride of the Greentree Stable, scored one of the most sensational victories since the Chesapeake was inaugurated in 1920 by nosing out Slam Bang in the event at Havre De Grace Saturday.

HARD EARNED

It was a hard earned verdict, but Trainer John Gaver said Capot thrives on heavy duty, and needs plenty of work before making his bid in the Derby May 7 at Louisville.

Olympia, Fred W. Hooper's three - year - old speedster, has been taking things easy since April 9 when he racked up a seven lengths decision in the Experimental Handicap No. 2 at Jamaica.

Just for comparison, Olympia romped out in front all the way in that mile and one sixteenth breeze under jockey Eddie Arcaro. He was clocked in 1:44 2-5 and Eddie never laid the whip on his sleek bay hide.

Leathers Sets Pace In 'Owl' Pin League

Joe Leathers set the pace in the Mansfield Tire Owl bowling league Saturday night as he rolled 174-185-213–572. E. Weakland tallied 183-159-212–554 and Bob Schuster, 553.

E. Blackburn posted 537, Al Kline had 528, and Joe Kuelling 521.

Harold Anderson Listed as Ashland Banquet Speaker

ASHLAND — Harold Anderson, Bowling Green state university coach, will address the second annual basketball banquet of Ashland Booster club tonight at Trinity Lutheran church. Three hundred are expected to attend.

The event, honoring basketball teams of Ashland high school and Ashland college, will feature presentation of letters and most valuable player awards. W. G. Dallas, Ashland high school distributive education head, will act as toastmaster.

Anderson will show movies of the Bowling Green-St. Louis game played in Madison Square Garden. Music will be furnished by the Wellington barbershop quartet.

Monmouth Park, N. J., will conduct its racing season this year from June 20 to Aug. 10.

Stranahan Hurts Foot In Tying Pro Bobby Locke

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. — (AP) — Amateur Frank Stranahan walked with a limp today as he teed off against professional Bobby Locke in an 18-hole playoff for the Cavalier specialists golf tournament championship.

The Toledo, O., star injured his left foot in one of yesterday's rounds when he slipped and fell on a hillside. His foot was swollen last night.

Stranahan and Locke finished the regulation 54-hole tournament yesterday in 201 strokes, six under par.

The South African pro played the most consistent golf throughout the tournament. After carding a 67 Friday, he got a 68 yesterday morning. And a 66 in the afternoon. Stranahan led after the first 18 holes with a 64, slipped to a 72 in yesterday's pre-lunch round, and came back with an afternoon 65.

Ace Yank Pitcher Injured

NEW YORK — The New York Yankees, slowed down to a walk by the loss of Joe DiMaggio, were further hobbled today by the disclosure that lanky Bob Porterfield, one of the aces of the pitching staff, will be lost to the club for probably a month.

The 26-year-old right-hander suffered a torn muscle in his right forearm last Saturday while pitching in an exhibition game against the Brooklyn Dodgers. Dr. Sidney Gaynor, the Yankee team physician, said he would not be able to offer a diagnosis for at least three days.

"I'll be very happy if Porterfield can pitch after two weeks," declared Manager Casey Stengel.

Stengel apparently has abandoned his experiment of trying to make a first baseman out of Third Baseman Billy Johnson.

At least Stengel benched Johnson in yesterday's game with Brooklyn and used Dick Kryhoski and Jack Phillips at the initial sack.

Play West Point . . .

WEST POINT, N. Y.—(UP)—Manager Leo Durocher of the New York Giants nominated rookie Andy Tomasic to pitch against the U. S. Military academy's baseball team today in the annual spring clash between the big leaguers and the Cadets.

Willard Marshall drove in six runs as the Giants beat the Cleveland Indians, 8 to 3, before 10,624 fans at the Polo Grounds. Marshall and Sid Gordon each contributed homers for the Giants.

★

Bow to Tigers . . .

PITTSBURGH — (UP) — Ralph Kiner's home run was the only consolation for Pittsburgh fans as they watched the Pirates bow to the Detroit Tigers, 4 to 2, yesterday at Forbes field.

Pittsburgh's only two runs were a result of Kiner's ninth-inning homer with Ted Beard on base, Ralph's fifth circuit clout of the spring training season.

A shivering Easter crowd of 11,434 watched Virgil Trucks and Marv Grissom handcuff the Bucs, while the Tigers pecked away at Hal Gregg and Cliff Chambers for two runs in the second and single tallies in the fourth and sixth. Gregg was charged with the loss.

★

A's Still Winning . . .

PHILADELPHIA —(UP)— Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics boasted two championships today—even before the start of the season.

The Athletics took the grapefruit circuit title with 23 wins and seven losses for a .767 mark and also captured Philadelphia's city championship yesterday by beating the Phillies, 5 to 2. It was the A's second victory in three games with the Phils.

Carl Scheib went the distance for the A's and limited the Phillies to four hits.

Louis Fight Outfit Meets

CHICAGO — (INS) — Ticket prices and television contracts for the Ezzard Charles-Joe Walcott heavyweight championship fight June 22 are slated to be drawn up in Chicago tomorrow at a meeting of promoter Joe Louis, Arthur Wirtz and James Norris.

The three directors of the new international boxing club will meet at their Chicago stadium the Comiskey park site. They will also discuss training sites for the two fighters.

The first show under IBC promotion will take place in Detroit, April 27.

Cochell, Shirley Fry Wins Tennis Crowns

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — (UP) — Earl Cochell of San Francisco crushed Gardner Larned of Chicago, 6-4, 6-1, yesterday to win the men's singles title at the good neighbor tennis championships.

Shirley Fry of Akron, O., came from behind to take the women's Singles crown from Dorothy Head of Alameda, Cal., 3-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Once an 'Outlaw,' Old Napoleon LaJoie Believes In Baseball's Reserve Clause

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—(AP)—Organized baseball's current battle over the reserve clause finds Napoleon (Larry) Lajoie on the other side now.

Once Lajoie, one of the game's all-time great players, was an outlaw. He jumped the National league, back in 1901, when there was no other recognized league. His case, which involved the reserve clause, was fought through the courts. It helped "decide the fate of the American league," as he puts it.

He went on to win a place in the hall of fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., as a second baseman and a hitter with a life-time batting average of .338 in 2,475 major league games. At one time Cleveland's American league club was named for him, and later he was its playing manager.

DOESN'T WATCH BALL

The rawboned Frenchman is 74 now, and hasn't seen a major league contest since Cleveland won the 1920 World Series from Brooklyn. He putters around in his yard and garden, and doesn't visit the spring training camps.

"You get enough of it," he says. You get filled up."

But he still talks the game, and he has no sympathy for the major leaguers who were outlawed for jumping to Mexico.

"You always have to have laws in baseball," he told a reporter. "If it weren't for these laws, including the reserve clause, old Col. Jake Ruppert would have had all the best players in the world playing for the New York Yankees when he owned that club. Money didn't mean anything to him."

As for the banned players:

"If those fellows who went to Mexico had planned right, they should have had the Mexicans put the money in escrow for them in this country, to insure their future."

And the players' suits over the reserve clause in the federal courts?

"I'm just guessing," he said, "but I don't think those fellows are going to beat the reserve clause in our courts today. They're not going to let a half dozen players who didn't have enough sense to protect themselves disrupt a national game as big as baseball.

NOTHING WRONG

"There is nothing out of the way with the reserve clause, if baseball had a strong committee to decide if a man is worth more money when he claims he is underpaid," he said.

But he admits that in 1901 he saw matters in a different light. The American league was an "outlaw" organization. Lajoie, Elmer Flick and Bill Bernhard jumped from the Philadelphia Nationals to Connie Mack's club, because the "salary limit in the National was $2,400 a season and Connie boosted the ante."

The Nationals went to court in Pennsylvania to test the reserve clause. A lower court ruled it illegal, but the Pennsylvania Supreme court reversed the decision. It also ordered Lajoie back to the Nationals. Meanwhile court decisions in New York and Missouri had ruled the reserve clause illegal.

Instead of returning to the Nationals, Lajoie went to another American league club, the Cleveland Broncos, in 1902. For two years he stayed out of Pennsylvania, fearing arrest. The team played in Philadelphia without him. In 1903 the name "Naps" was given to the Cleveland club. Lajoie left Cleveland in 1914 after managing the club five years, and finished his playing days with Mack in Pheladelphia in 1916.

"That case of mine helped decide the fate of the American league," he said. "If they had beaten us in the courts outside Pennsylvania, I don't believe there would have been a rival league to the National."

And does he root for Cleveland in this year's pennant race?

"I'd like to see Cleveland win," he said. "If they don't, I pull for Connie Mack. There never will be another man like Mack in baseball."

Maple Leafs Win 3rd Title

TORONTO — (AP) — The Toronto Maple Leafs today stood alone as the first club in modern professional hockey history to win the Stanley cup three years in

The 14,544, fans who filled Maple Leaf Gardens to capacity and saw the world champions recrowned, with a 3-1 victory over the Detroit Red Wings Saturday night, probably would like to have joined the players in sipping champagne from the bowl of the Stanley cup in a post-game party.

In an effort to revive their players, Detroit officials used oxygen tanks and masks during rest periods for the first time in N. H. L. history.

Women's Tourney Listed As Sudden Death This Year

NEW YORK — (AP) — The U. S. women's golf championship this year, like the men's, will be a "sudden death" affair.

The United States golf association announced that henceforth the tournament will be conducted strictly on a match play basis with a field of 128 to be chosen by sectional trials.

This means the girls will start brushing each other off on the first day. The men have been following this procedure for the last two years—and like it.

In the past qualifying has been held at the scene of the tournament with the 64 low scorers getting into the title bracket.

This year's tournament will be played at the Merion Golf club, Ardmore, Pa., Sept. 12-17. The 36-hole sectional tryouts are set for Aug. 30-31 in strategically located centers.

Full details of the qualifying tests have not been worked out, cities being considered for sites is Cincinnati.

Pair of Webbs Make Midland Baseball Mad

MIDLAND, TEX. — (AP) — They call them the Mr. and Mrs. Baseball of the minors—this husband-wife team that makes everybody a fan.

He watches the ball players, she keeps an eye on the treasury. This oil city of 25,000 has gone quite baseball made because of Harold and Lois Webb.

They are a colorful team that specializes in winning baseball. In 1927 they had Midland in the Shaughnessy playoffs of the Longhorn league, a class C circuit that spans big west Texas and a slice of New Mexico. Last year Midland won the pennant.

And 1949 is going to be the best yet, they vow. They expect 100,000 fans to fight their way into the park during the season opening April 27.

Mrs. Webb is vice-president, business manager, secretary-treasurer, bookeeper and concessions manager. He is the president and whistles the boys to work on the ball diamond.

Webb is a walking advertisement for baseball in this sports-minded city. Kids follow him like the Pied Piper. There's a reason—his heart is big and generous and he gives away balls and bats.

The rotund Webb is a drawing card all over the league. He is the favorite target of outspoken west Texans, who like him but really like to bait him. His short, bandy legs carry him toward umpires in a hurry. When the Indians lose he really cuts up.

Last season he was chased many times. Once he parked his bus by the fence and directed his club from there, defying the umpires or cop to eject him from his personal property.

When Webb measured the bases at Sweetwater, hundreds of fans berated him. But they chipped in and bought him a steel tape measure on the next trip.

Webb wouldn't make a move without Lois' okay. When he shuffles up to her with a salutation of "now honey—," she stops him automatically with "not another cent for that rookie outfielder."

Big Teaching Staff Set For Grid Clinic

By FRITZ HOWELL

MASSILLON—(AP)—The largest teaching staff in history will feature the Ohio High School Football Coaches' association clinic this year.

The annual five-day event, centered around the fourth annual high school all-star game, is booked here Aug. 9-13.

Thirty men make up the faculty for the big school, and Washington high school of Massillon, co-sponsor of the event, has lined up a hefty entertainment program for the hundreds of mentors due to attend.

NAME COACHES

Among the coaches due to tell the scholastic pigskin professors how it's done in the big time are:

Wes Fesler and Esco Sarkinnen of Ohio State, Frank Murray of Marquette, Carles (Doc) Barrett of Columbia, Rae Crowther of Pennsylvania, Stu Holcomb and Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue, Jack Blote of Michigan;

Skip Stahley of Toledo, Glenn Fraser of Ohio Wesleyan, Bud Houghton of Akron, Nelson Jones of Findlay, Dike Beede of Youngstown, Sid Gillman and Joe Madro of Cincinnati, Carroll Widdoes of Ohio U., Woody Hayes of Miami, Clyde Lamb of Ohio Northern;

Ray Ride of Case, Gaston Lewis of Wilberforce, George Donges of Ashland, Joe Gavin of Dayton, Ed Kluska of Xavier, Mike Scarry and Bill Council of Western Reserve, Paul Hoerneman of Heidelberg, and "Red" Maurer of Wittenberg.

Others on the clinic program will be Luther Emery of the Massillon Independent who will discuss press relations; Jack McPhee, noted official, and Photographer Cletis Crawford.

Opening night, Aug. 9, the Massillon high school swing band will offer its fall preview for the coaches; the Massillon American Legion post will entertain at a party the following night; the Cleveland Indians will play host Thursday night at the Chicago White Sox game; Friday night the Tiger Booster club gives its appreciation dinner to the visitors, and the all-star North-South contest is booked Saturday night.

RHODES IS SPEAKER

Mayor James Rhodes of Columbus, national president of the AAU, will be the principal speaker at the appreciation dinner.

Coaching staffs for the all-star teams are: North—Ralph Neff of Lakewood, Herman (Bup) Rearick of Canton McKinley, James Scullion of Lakewood, and Gene Wolansky of Cleveland South; South—Glenn Ellison of Middletown, Ray Schick of Newark, Mack Pemberton of Columbus West, and Denver Wood of Cambridge.

The clinic and all-star game originally were scheduled at Lakewood, but were shifted to Massillon when the Cleveland stadium became unavailable for the practice sessions and the annual contest of 1949 high school graduates.

Ike Williams Big Favorite

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Lightweight champ Ike Williams will come into Cleveland today as a 5-2 favorite against fast-stepping Vince Turpin of Canton for their 10-round feature of Friday night's boxing card.

Williams is expected to enter the ring at about 136 pounds, just over the lightweight limit, and Turpin will be nine pounds heavier.

The Friday outing will be Williams' first Cleveland ring appearance since 1944.

The Georgie Small-Dick "Wild Irish" Callahan class shapes up as a rugged 10-round semifinal bout that may steal the thunder from the Williams-Turpin main event.

Rhode Island Reds Win Puck Pennant

PROVIDENCE, R. I. — (AP) — The Rhode Island Reds reigned as American Hockey league champions today for the first time in nine years.

The Reds, coached by fiery Terry Reardon who was noted for his spirit and fight while with the Boston Bruins, climaxed a great comeback by defeating the Hershey Bears, 4-2, in the seventh and deciding game at the auditorium last night.

Neil Pratt, Syracuse University miler from Erie, Pa., is the best middle-distance runner in the school's history.

Gold Rush Hits Barren Lapland

STOCKHOLM—(UP)—The Lemenjoki River in Lapland, northernmost Finland, is the scene of a gold rush partly resembling that in California many years ago.

In the last months, adventure-longing Finns from all parts of the country have gathered in the area, where there has not been any golddigging for 43 years.

It is difficult to say whether they have had any good luck. If rumors are true, however, one digger last summer produced more than eight kilograms (17½ pounds) of pure gold worth $44,000.

Amateur Golf Meet Opens In Pinehurst

PINEHURST, N. C. — (AP) — Two weeks of traditional north and south amateur golf play began today on the Pinehurst country club's No. 2 course.

The men go at it all this week in their 49th tournament. Next week the women stage their own event which is two years younger.

Although the sun appears to be small, its diameter is 866,000 miles, which would make its density a million times greater than the earth's.

No one could begin to point out all the many features of this estate. There is room for nearly any farming venture you can think of: chicken, beef, turkeys, have all been successfully raised here. Say, there is just no limits to the possibilities this farm affords. Now known as the Ellsworth Mills Orchards, and previously known as the Dickson Orchards. We have this farm exclusively listed and priced right. Perhaps I should tell you that last season there was 40,000 bushels of apples harvested and that was a poor year. HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Now! Tooth Decay Reduced by Amazing New Discovery

MOTHERS! HELP YOUR FAMILY REDUCE DECAY WITH AMM-I-DENT

Now You May Save Your Children Untold Grief and Pain

You, like every mother and father in America, want your children to grow up with strong, healthy teeth—and a bright smile free from cavities or fillings.

Up to now, the dentifrice your children used could help little to prevent cavities! Think of what pain and grief tooth decay has cost you! Think of what your prompt action may mean to your children—fewer cavities—less decay—healthier teeth!

As a good parent, you will want to insist that your children use Amm-i-dent twice daily. And the delightful taste of Amm-i-dent makes the job easy—they'll love it!

And as one who wants good teeth and a bright smile, you'll be glad to set a fine example by using Amm-i-dent yourself, to help prevent cavities in your own teeth.

Parents will be glad to know, too, that Amm-i-dent has been tested and commended by Parents' Magazine's Consumer Service Bureau.

SCHOOLS JOIN ANTI-DECAY DRIVE!

Supervised Use of Amm-i-dent At Eastern High School

A number of school authorities, after careful examination of reports in dental journals and with the approval of school health officers, have instituted as part of their hygiene course the supervised brushing of teeth with ammoniated dentifrices.

For example, a leading New York State high school has reported this program: their boys and girls will brush their teeth with Amm-i-dent daily. Dental checks will be taken at regular intervals to record the actual rate of reduction in new cavity formation.

TEACHERS! Many teachers have requested classroom literature explaining how Amm-i-dent works. If you would like a supply of leaflets for this purpose, write to: Amm-i-dent, Inc. (Educational Div.), 12 High St., Jersey City 6, N. J.

Dental Nurse Tells How Amm-i-dent Helped Her Teeth!

"Fewer Cavities — Brighter Smile — Healthier Mouth," says Miss Joan Hughes, 48-21 Glenwood St., Little Neck, L.I.

"I work for a dentist who was among the first to recommend Amm-i-dent Tooth Powder in his practice.

"I have used Amm-i-dent myself for three years. Before I started on Amm-i-dent I had a great many cavities. In the first year of using Amm-i-dent, cavities became far less frequent and for the last two years I have had none at all. You just can't imagine what that means to me—not one single cavity in two years!

"And I know Amm-i-dent has worked for others. I have seen the teeth of many of our patients who are using Amm-i-dent, and I consider the results nothing short of amazing. I know one pretty girl whose teeth might have been ruined by decay. She would show up with as many as 15 cavities at a time. For the past two years, using Amm-i-dent, she hasn't had a single cavity. Isn't that wonderful?

"The patients tell me they like Amm-i-dent's taste and, of course, I know from my own experience that Amm-i-dent does a fine job of cleaning teeth and sweetening breath. It's my idea of the perfect tooth powder."

PRIMER FOR PARENTS

DON'T do this:

Don't put off getting Amm-i-dent. Buy Amm-i-dent today—and use as directed on the package!

DO this:

Get Amm-i-dent today! The family size is only 60¢ at your drugstore or drug counter. No prescription necessary!

What About Fluorine?

A question often asked by people first hearing about Amm-i-dent is, "Does it contain fluorine?"

Amm-i-dent does not contain fluorine. Fluorine has shown promising results in reducing cavities, particularly in children and adolescents. However, as too much fluorine can cause mottling of teeth, up to now it has no place in an anti-decay dentifrice. Fluorine should only be administered under competent, professional supervision.

If you or your children have had fluorine treatments, Amm-i-dent will afford extra protection.

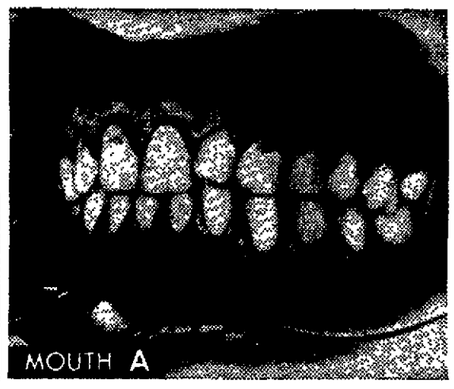
Children Like Amm-i-dent's Flavor

Knowing that the taste of Amm-i-dent would be extremely important with children, the makers of Amm-i-dent have already tested youngsters' reactions. The verdict: the kids "go for" Amm-i-dent!

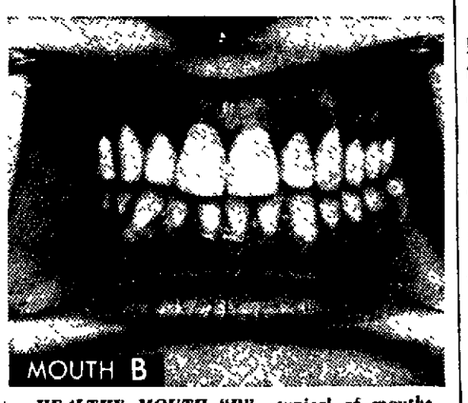
First Ammoniated Tooth Powder—Amm-i-dent—Helps Prevent Cavities

Ammonium Therapy

DENTISTS TELL HOW AMM-I-DENT HELPS MANKIND FIGHT DECAY!



UNHEALTHY MOUTH "A"—Lactobacillus acidophilus (acid-producing microbes) usually flourish in such mouths.



HEALTHY MOUTH "B"—typical of mouths where Lactobacillus acidophilus count is low. Amm-i-dent reduces L. a. count.

For years, dental scientists have searched for the answer to tooth decay. The following facts are the result of painstaking research by some of the top scientific minds in the dental profession!

First—a definite association was found between tooth decay and the presence of large numbers of a certain acid-producing microbe—Lactobacillus acidophilus.

In mouths where these microbes were plentiful, cavities were usually frequent. Where the microbe count was low, cavities were generally rare or even non-existent.

Obviously, the problem was to provide artificially for the average mouth, the bacteria-fighting ingredients which Nature seems to provide in the mouths of the fortunate few who are cavity free.

Amm-i-dent does that! Exhaustive tests have shown that regular daily use of Amm-i-dent has brought about astonishing reductions in the numbers of Lactobacillus acidophilus. This is accomplished by two active, anti-decay ingredients.

One is Dibasic Ammonium Phosphate. The other is Carbamide (synthetic urea).

Neither of these two all-important ingredients is present in any leading tooth powder or toothpaste generally used in American homes.

Dentists Praise Amm-i-dent

One dentist says: "Since the Fall of 1947, by using Amm-i-dent daily, I have brought down my Lactobacillus acidophilus count from over 700,000 per c.c. to only 10,000 per c.c."

This comment is typical of many others in our files: "I have recommended Amm-i-dent to many of my patients. And I have found such definite improvement in my own mouth that I would hesitate to use any other product."

Especially interesting is this dentist's statement: "After 30 years of dental practice, I can honestly say Amm-i-dent is the only dentifrice I would recommend to my patients. I feel safe and sincere in recommending Amm-i-dent."

New Hope for Children and Adults

You've heard about it from dentists or friends! You've read about it in magazines and newspapers! Now, it's here, ready for use in your own home, after three years of clinical testing—a tooth powder that actually helps prevent formation of new cavities in human teeth.

Amm-i-dent, the first of the ammoniated tooth powders, holds promise of fewer cavities, less tooth decay. That's the thrilling news that comes with the announcement of this entirely new and revolutionary dentifrice.

First Anti-Decay* Dentifrice

Up to now, dentifrices could help clean and brighten your teeth, but contained no effective anti-decay ingredient. Now, for the first time, with Amm-i-dent, you and your children can help protect your teeth against decay, as you give them their regular daily cleaning. For Amm-i-dent contains two anti-decay ingredients, not used in any leading toothpaste or powder!

Astonishing Report in Reader's Digest

No wonder magazines and newspapers have written of a new era in dental health! You've read about ammoniated dentifrices in Reader's Digest, Better Homes and Gardens, and many other magazines and newspapers. Amm-i-dent, the first ammoniated dentifrice, marks a great step toward a great goal:—fewer cavities, less decay for the men, women and children in America.

Look at your teeth in the mirror. Count the fillings. How much pain and trouble could you have been saved, if Amm-i-dent had been discovered when you were a child? How much can you save your children, by starting them on Amm-i-dent today?

Yes, for adults and children alike, regular daily use of Amm-i-dent works to reduce the rate of new cavities, promote healthier teeth. Everyone will love its clean, minty taste. Amm-i-dent cleans your teeth to gleaming brightness and sweetens breath instantly.

Important!
Get Amm-i-dent Now!

Amm-i-dent may be bought without prescription at all druggists. The price is 60¢ for the large family-size can. Start today to fight decay the Amm-i-dent way.

"Reader's Digest" Reveals How You and Your Family May Now Reduce Tooth Decay

Time, Newsweek Tell About Discovery of Amm-i-dent!

The nation's press heralded the arrival of Amm-i-dent with rare enthusiasm! Pages upon pages were devoted to telling the American public how Amm-i-dent was discovered and what it does to help prevent decay. Reader's Digest, Time, Newsweek, Better Homes and Gardens, Parents' Magazine—devoted plentiful space to ammoniated tooth powder.

"A revolutionary new way to prevent tooth decay . . ." promises to make history," said Reader's Digest, in its article on ammoniated tooth powders. Time and Newsweek tell how Amm-i-dent may improve America's dental health by reducing tooth decay. Parents' Magazine awarded its "Tested and Commended" Seal to Amm-i-dent, after reviewing the scientific research.

With such national acceptance, there is surely no reason to delay. Buy Amm-i-dent Tooth Powder, for your whole family, today!

Amm-i-dent No "Cure-All"

No claims are made that Amm-i-dent is a "cure-all." It cannot help cavities that are already formed. Nor in using it are you guaranteed never to have any cavities again. But from all the evidence, the proper use of Amm-i-dent is a simple and effective way to help prevent formation of new cavities.

Thousands of Easter Paraders, Church-Goers Brave Snow, Cold

By NITA BRANSON

With traditional April caprice, the sun came out yesterday morning just long enough to start the annual Easter parade, then disappeared behind clouds that by afternoon shed snow and rain on paraders.

Thousands of Mansfield worshippers jammed the city's churches, overflowing into the aisles to hear the Easter message of Christ's resurrection. Beginning at 6 a. m. when worshippers left their homes for sunrise services in at least a dozen sanctuaries, until well past the noon hour, gayly costumed crowds strolled Mansfield's streets.

One of the most colorful parades of the morning was the annual Knights Templar march up Main street for traditional sunrise services. The services were held at the First Methodist church where a capacity audience heard Rev. Charles W. Stoneburner preach on the theme, "From Glory to Glory."

More than 200 Knights attended the service and at least 125 marched in their plumed hats and uniforms to the music of the Temple band.

Rev. Stoneburner compared the glory of the creation with that of the resurrection, which he declared was the measure of God's love.

"Today is the day of life and life is glorious. God started the world in a great burst of glory. Man had to learn of the glory of God and man is still learning," Rev. Stoneburner said.

"The Christ we know is not on the cross. The Christ we know is the Christ of every-day living. His death would have been a terrific tragedy if He had not risen. The resurrection of Christ makes the resurrection power of God the greatest story of all history."

Music for the service was presented by the choir with Mrs. Kenneth Erb as soloist. Members sang, "I Heard a Soldier Talking," by Kemmer, and "When the Sabbath Was

Dying Girl Gets Her Last Wish

Melon Arrives By Airplane

A big watermelon was presented today to an 11-year-old North Robinson girl to satisfy one of her last two wishes before she died of cancer.

Frail little Maxine Rudd of the Crawford county village doesn't know that doctors hold no hope of her survival. But sick in bed, she asked for a new blue dress and a piece of watermelon.

Her mother, Mrs. James Rudd, made the dress and gave it to her several days ago. But Mrs. Rudd had no watermelons.

When the Red Cross learned that the blonde girl, who has had two major operations and is paralyzed from the waist down, wanted watermelon, it broadcast an appeal.

PAYS FOR MELON

George H. Roth of Hollywood, Fla., heard the request from a Cincinnati station. He agreed to pay costs having a melon delivered direct from the vine to Ohio. The "best and largest melon in Florida" was shipped to Maxine's house by airplane last night.

The child was stricken last July and operated on in Mansfield, her parents said. She was able to return to the sixth grade in school but was stricken again last December. Since that time, she has been able to attend school only for two days.

North Robinson is between Crestline and Bucyrus, about 22 miles west of Mansfield.

Raps Tobin As Lobbyist

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Secretary of Labor Tobin was accused today of lobbying in behalf of the administration's Taft-Hartley repeal bill in violation of a thirty-year-old section of the U. S. criminal code.

The National Association of Manufacturers, which made the charge, suggested that the cabinet member's activities may be a cause for his removal from office.

The NAM charges are based on Tobin's statement to a news conference that he and his aides have polled practically every member of Congress on the labor bill and are confident it will be enacted.

In its weekly paper, the manufacturers' association declared: "Apparently, Mr. Tobin's enthusiasm reaches the point where some think he envisions himself as the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, and in giving play to this enthusiasm Mr. Tobin seems to have overlooked the 30-year-old section 201 of the criminal code."

The NAM said this provision forbids the use of any money appropriated by Congress to influence in any manner congressional voting on any legislation.

U. S. Opposes Franco Aid

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(U.P.)—The United Press will oppose Franco Spain's entry into the Marshall plan or the North Atlantic pact at this time despite any move the current United Nations' assembly may make in Franco's favor, it was learned today.

This official American attitude toward Spain was disclosed as the UN ended a three-day holiday to take up work in Italy's former African colonies, and a Scandinavian plan to streamline assembly sessions.

The Balkan church trials are to be considered early this week by a special UN committee.

Browns Sue To Evict Cardinals

ST. LOUIS—(UP) — The St. Louis Browns today filed suit to evict the Cardinals from Sportsmen's park, owned by the Browns but used by both ball clubs.

Lon Hocker, jr., attourney for the Browns, said that the eviction suit asked that the present contract with the Cardinals be invalidated, that the National league team be barred from the park, and that damages of $222,500 be assessed against the Cardinals.

Exposure Blamed In Girl's Death

Body Discovered In Ohio Field

SPRINGFIELD — (AP) — Three-year-old Sandy Robison died of exposure, coroner Austin Richards ruled today.

The body of the little girl, missing since last Thursday afternoon, was found in a field three-quarters of a mile from her home yesterday.

The coroner gave exposure as the primary cause of death, and listed as a secondary cause "possible beginning of pneumonia." He estimated death occurred early Friday morning.

Coroner Richards agreed with Sheriff J. Arthur Shuman that the girl had wandered away from the farm home west of here. They said it was possible she became lost in the darkness and could not find the farm house.

About 300 volunteer Clark county firemen joined in the search yesterday. Authorities said Sunday was a day off for the volunteers and it gave them a chance "to check all angles again."

The body, found in an open field on the Earl Foster farm, bore no marks of violence, Fire Chief John Frank of Donnelsville, one of the searchers, said.

Sandy had lived most of her life with the Fosters. Her mother is in a hospital and her father, William Robison, 33, has been missing about three weeks.

Before the girl's body was found, Clark county Sheriff J. Arthur Shuman said he believed there may have been a connection between the disappearance of both the father and the daughter.

The last time Sandy has seen alive, she was playing in a swing in the Foster front yard Thursday afternoon.

Foster said the field in which Sandy was found had been searched thoroughly a few hours after her disappearance.

Bryan Slayer 'Sheltered' At Ohio Pen

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Ervin (Bud) Ingle, 15, sentenced to life for murder in the death of an elderly Bryan woman, will be "sheltered" from more hardened inmates at the Ohio penitentiary, Warden Ralph W. Alvis said today.

Ingle entered the penitentiary over the week end to start serving the sentence for the murder of Mrs. Pearl Gabriel, 56, last May 5. He is the youngest inmate behind the walls of the institution.

"We are going 99 per cent of the way toward helping the boy find himself and giving him something worthwhile to do while he's here," the warden said.

The youth will have selected cell mates and will attend the prison school where he will study bookkeeping, typing and shorthand, Alvis said.

Although Ingle is the youngest inmate now in the Ohio penitentiary, he is not the youngest prisoner ever confined in the institution. Daniel Rosenbecker, a 12-year-old, was sentenced in 1902 from Lucas county. He served about 10 years for manslaughter.

Ingle will be eligible for parole in 20 years.

CANCER VIRUS ISOLATED—Columbia university scientists believe they are on threshold of new discoveries in fight against dread cancer of the breast, which attacks about one in 25 women. Biochemists of the university's new Institute of Cancer Research have isolated cancer virus in milk of mice and magnified it by electronic microscope. From there they hope to find way to reduce the disease.

Inspector Starts Work

Columbus Man To Check Food Supplies

The Mansfield-Richland County health department's newly-appointed food inspector reported for work today.

The new employe, James P. Loomis, of Columbus, fills a position created several weeks ago by the city and county board of health.

Closer health department control of Richland county restaurants is foreseen with the appointment.

Loomis will receive a salary of $2,400 annually, plus traveling expenses. Two-thirds of the sum will be assumed by the city and the other one-third by the county.

A World War II veteran, he served in food inspection work with the army in Calcutta, India. He attended Wittenberg college and is completing an in-service training course in sanitation conducted by the state department of health.

Lay Keel For Biggest Carrier

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. — (AP) — The keel of the USS United States, world's largest aircraft carrier, was laid here at the Newport News shipbuilding and dry dock today.

Workmen moving the massive keel plates of the $186,000,000 ship into the giant building dock gave indication that the ship is designed to handle long range bombers.

Key Viruses Found

One Kills Cancer, Other Produces It

NEW YORK—(UP)—Important gains in the battle against cancer were marked up today by medical science.

One victory on the front where scientists tediously work in the laboratory was the week-end report that a virus has been found that will destroy cancerous growth in mice.

A virus is a submicroscopic agent, a parasite that cannot live by itself—but must get its nourishment from tissue around it. One particular type of virus—that which causes a form of encephalitis, a paralyzing disease—has been "turned loose" on cancers in mice at Memorial Hospital Center for Cancer and Allied Diseases.

Dr. Alice Moore, reporting at the American Association for Cancer Research, said that at least three types of mouse cancer can be killed by the virus. It is the first time that a virus has been known to have such powers.

The virus, she disclosed, has an affinity for cancerous growth. In laboratory tests, it was found, however, that the virus also attacks normal tissue after the cancer has been destroyed, but Memorial doctors are hopeful that the activity of the virus can be checked after the "good work" is done.

Another victory in the cancer fight came from Columbia university where scientists have isolated another virus—but this one apparently doesn't stop cancer. It causes cancer.

The virus, appearing as a white sphere under the powerful electron microscope, has long been suspected as female mice pass breast cancer susceptibility along to their female offspring. The Columbia scientists reported that their new work confirms the theory that a virus causes breast cancer in mice.

The isolation and identification, Columbia pointed out, will give scientists means to study better the chemical makeup of the virus and its behavior. It may also mean that a vaccine against cancer in mice may be developed.

Over the week end there were also reports of new chemicals retarding the growth of cancer in mice. One such new chemical was identified at a meeting in Detroit as Guanazolo, which was reported by Dr. George W. Kidder, Amherst college biologist. The chemical is the newest one to be reported as effective against cancer in mice.

Wallace Beery Rites Scheduled Tuesday

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif.—(AP)—Wallace Beery, Hollywood's "lovable old rascal," will be buried in Forest Lawn Memorial park in nearby Glendale tomorrow.

Many of the film industry's great are expected to attend the funeral in the church of the Recessional at 10:30 a. m. in the Memorial park.

Bootleggers Get Blame

Two Held In Easter Murder

SHIELDS, Ky. — (UP) — Authorities today blamed bootleggers for the slaying of another Harlan county police chief who was shot as he stepped from his automobile on Main Street of Shields, Ky., a small mining town.

The latest victim was unpaid County Police Chief Ambrose Metcalfe, 29, who was killed yesterday while out on a Sunday afternoon drive with his wife and two-year-old son.

Authorities said the circumstances were similar to those in the death of Police Chief E. J. Baumgardner of Evarts, two miles north of here, a town which has had six police chiefs in the last eight months.

Metcalfe, who was serving without pay pending a court decision, was shot five times as he stepped from his car in front of a restaurant which he had raided several times in search of liquor.

Arthur Jackson, the restaurant owner, and Ford Sizemore were arrested a few hours later by state police. They were taken to Bell county jail at Pineville on their own request. They denied any part in the shooting.

The incident was reminiscent of the shooting last fall of Evarts' police chief Baumgardner, who took that post after resigning as Metcalfe's deputy. Baumgardner was fatally shot by Bryan Middleton, Evarts cafe owner, who later was killed in a gun battle with police chief number five, Isachar Combs.

Egg Hunt Set For Afternoon

The annual Easter egg hunt, which the Volunteers of America were to have held Saturday, was scheduled to take place today at 3 p. m. at South Park, Lt. Major R. L. Gutterman announced.

Hundreds of children are expected to hunt for the brightly-decorated Easter symbols among the woodsy places in South Park. Staff members were busy this morning hiding the eggs among the leaves and behind tree stumps and stones in the park area.

Prizes will be given for the children who find the most eggs.

TRUSTEE DIES

CHILLICOTHE — (AP) — Walter W. Boulger, 68, a trustee of the Ohio Archaeological and Historical Society, died today.

It's 'Play Ball!' Day

Truman to Make Traditional Pitch

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— Baseball came out of winter hibernation today with the opening of the major league season scheduled in Washington and Boston, weather permitting.

After a gloomy winter—climaxed by the threatened loss of its greatest contemporary star, Joe DiMaggio—the national pastime was off on a seven-month twirl to be climaxed by the World Series in October.

President Truman was to throw out the ceremonial first ball at Washington where the Senators meet the Philadelphia Athletics in the American league. Ford Frick, president of the National league, was to open his group's campaign at Boston where the defending champion Braves played the Philadelphia Phillies.

Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees was conspicuous by his absence as the season began. Rated the game's greatest present-day player, DiMaggio was in Baltimort undergoing treatment for a heel ailment which may end his career.

But even DiMaggio's woes were forgotten for the moment as the "game today" pennants fluttered atop Griffith stadium and Braves field. Tomorrow they will be better remembered when the remainder of the teams begin play—Cleveland at St. Louis, Chicago at Detroit, Washington at New York and Boston at Philadelphia in the American league and New York at Brooklyn, St. Louis at Cincinnati, Pittsburgh at Chicago and Philadelphia at Boston in the National league.

In addition to the feared loss of DiMaggio, baseball began its 1949 season facing threatening lawsuits. Players suspended in 1946 for jumping to the Mexican league are suing for damages totaling $2,800,000. Should they win, the game's entire player-contract system must be overhauled.

The ceremony of having the Chief Executive throw out the first pitch began with William Howard Taft in 1910.

Calling All Penguin Pursuers!

MERCHANTVILLE, N. J.—(INS)—New Jersey's state police have broadcast an alarm for a couple of fugitive penguins which escaped from a truck between New York's La Guardia airport and Highstown, N. J.

It seems there were eight penguins in all on their way to Warren Buck, Merchantville animal importer. They chewed their way to freedom through the wire sides of their crate, but six birds were so stunned by their jump from the truck, they were quickly recaptured.

The other two, made of sturdier stuff, left the highway and vanished.

Burglar Caught In Meat Cooler

Man Apprehended At Kearns Plant

Police spent a busy Easter week-end with the investigation of two strong-arm robberies, a foiled burglary of the Kearns Packing company and a car ransacking.

A 44-year-old Crystal Spring avenue man was held in city jail today for investigation after he was captured in a cooler at the packing company about 2 a. m. Sunday by W. E. Peters, night engineer at the plant.

Peters, who held the man captive at the plant until police arrived, said the man had taken 13 pounds of sausage from the cooler. The sausage was valued at $5.20. Peters said he discovered the man in the refrigerator vault during his check of the plant. Peters told police that another cooler had been pried open but no meat had been disturbed.

Police said the burglar gained admittance to the plant by using the fire-escape leading to a back window. The suspect told police he was accompanied by another man who disappeared during the burglary.

Police identified the victims of strong-armed robberies as Walter E. Campbell, 232 Orange street, and John Drake Smith jr., 122 East Fourth street.

GRABBED AROUND NECK

Campbell reported to police at 3:11 a. m. Sunday that a man walked up behind him, grabbed him around the neck and took a billford from his left hip pocket. Campbell said he was walking on Orange street about 150 feet from his home.

Campbell said the billfold contained $2 and papers. Police later found the empty billfold in Campbell's front yard.

Smith reported to police at 4 a. m. today that a man who forced his way into Smith's car in front of his home, robbed him of his billfold and watch. The billfold, Smith said, contained no money, but he valued the watch at $39.

John Stuff, 136 East Sixth street, reported to police that $21 worth of accessories were stolen from his car between 9 p. m. Saturday and 1 a. m. Sunday while the car was parked at the rear of 146 East Fifth street. Stuff said the car was unlocked.

Four Slain In Gunfight

PULLMAN, Wash. — (AP) — A 24-year-old merchant killed three police officers and another posseman before he was shot dead in a two-hour Easter Sunday gunfight.

The man who went "berserk" when an officer tried to arrest him, Police Chief Arthur Ricketts said, was George McIntyre. He was a boy scout troop leader and an "expert" marksman in the army during the war.

Ricketts said McIntyre bit one man severely in a downtown field yesterday. Then he shot an officer who tried to arrest him and clubbed the policeman as he lay dying.

When a posse closed in on McIntyre near his home, opened fire with a German sharpshooter's rifle equipped with telescopic sights. He killed three man and wounded another with this and another rifle before the posse's bullets killed him.

Goal Topped

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The 1949 fund raising drive of the American Red Cross went over the top. E. Roland Harriman, chairman of the national drive, reported last night $62,200,000 has been subscribed. The goal was $60,000,000.

Malinin Coming to U.S., Claim

Blockade, Pact Rumored Topic

LONDON—(INS)—Reports reached London from Berlin today that the Soviets have dispatched a special envoy to Washington for discussions centering around the North Atlantic pact and the Berlin blockade.

Reuters and the London Daily Mail identified him as Gen. Georgi V. Malinin, former Soviet deputy chief of staff in Germany.

Malinin's departure coincided with reports that Russia is making proposals looking toward a lifting of the blockade. The reports indicated that Malinin may be carrying a formal offer to Washington.

(In Washington, state department spokesman Michael J. McDermott said he had heard nothing of such a report, the latest of a series of rumors about lifting the blockade. He recalled that Secretary of State Acheson last week, referring to another report, had commented that all avenues of communication are open to the Russians.)

(In Berlin, U. S. military officials denied Berlin press reports that the Russians are seeking a way to lift the blockade.

(Philip Hawkins, deputy military government economic adviser, said there is "absolutely no indication" of any such move although the Russians are attempting to have the western powers lift their counter-blockade.

CLAY SAYS 'NO'

(Military Governor Gen. Lucius D. Clay has said repeatedly there is no sign of any reduction in Soviet blockade pressure.)

The Berlin reports on Malinin said he left by air yesterday, dressed in plain clothes and accompanied by an aide.

Malinin was said to be seeking first-hand information regarding the Atlantic Pact and its effects upon western Europe, particularly the western zones of Germany.

Malinin is a leading soviet financial expert and a trusted friend of the politburo.

He is generally considered as chief financial adviser on Berlin with wide powers on questions of policy.

A German source was quoted as saying, however, that the blockade is not one of the main topics to be discussed in Washington.

Reuters said that Soviet military government circles were not willing to state whether Malinin would attempt to see Secretary of State Acheson. It was learned that he had important consultations with Soviet Military Governor Marshal Chuikov and Ambassador Semeonov before leaving.

BLOCKADE BEATEN

The Evening Star reported that the U.S., Great Britain and France have agreed to act in the future on the assumption that the Berlin blockade need no longer be considered as a serious bargaining factor in any new discussions with Russia.

This is said to be because of the airlift's success.

Expectation of such a policy is believed to have been responsible for a Soviet-inspired whispering campaign about the likelihood of four-power negotiations being resumed.

(Germans in the Soviet zone reportedly are pressuring Soviet authorities to lift the Berlin blockade because the international impasse over the former German capital has brought about disastrous economic consequences.

(A British army reported that Germans in the eastern zone want to resume trade with west Germany and have put the heat on the Soviets to resume normal relations.)

All Columbus Building Hit

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Practically all construction here faced a shutdown today as 1,400 members of the Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Local 423 (AFL) struck in an effort to speed talks on a new contract.

Marshall Cobb, business representative of the union, said the union membership voted to work no longer without a contract. Their contract with the Building Trades Employers' association expired April 1.

Speed-Up of Subsidies Suggested

Milk and Pork Surpluses Loom

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The administration may soon ask Congress to speed up authorization to make direct subsidy payments to farmers for pork and milk.

Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan told reporters on leaving a White House conference that he had discussed the "advisability of such a request" with President Truman.

Brannan said that surpluses of milk and pork are likely within the next couple of months. Under present law, in order to support prices, the government has to buy surpluses of these products and take them off the market. This keeps retail prices up.

The farm legislation passed by the 80th Congress, which goes into effect next Jan. 1, authorizes direct payments to farmers on pork and milk, Brannan said. The immediate question is whether to advance the effective date of this provision.

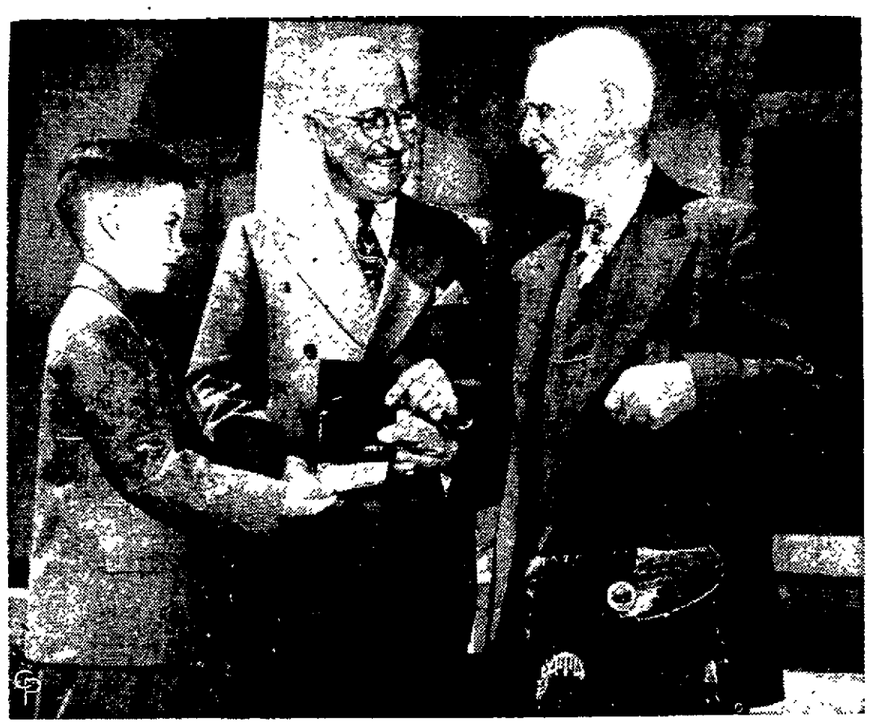
Brannan said that consumer prices on these commodities probably would fall if the administration is allowed to go ahead with the direct subsidy payments to producers. The idea is that the market prices would be permitted to find their own level and the government would pay farmers the difference between what they got for their hogs and milk and the support price.

Brannan said he also discussed with Mr. Truman the "general reaction" to his recent overall proposals for rewriting farm legislation. Mail to the department has been "quite favorable," the secretary said.

On the whole, he added "only" two points are being raised "with any vigor"—the cost and the unit plan which on some commodities would put a top limit of $25,000 on the value of crops for any one farm would get government support.

Brannan said that, on costs, "We will tell all we know as fast as we can get it ready." He said he is not "ducking" any specific estimates of costs, but there are many factors involved which make it difficult to set specific dollars and cents.

Brannan said that in his own opinion the cost of the proposed program "will be smaller" than the government is now obligated to pay under existing legislation.



GETS HIS PASS—President Truman receives the annual presidential baseball pass in Washington from Calvin Griffith II, grandson of Washington Nationals owner Clark Griffith (right), who holds an alligator bag presented with another pass for Mrs. Truman. Southpaw Truman will throw first ball today.

Theft of Clothing Reported to Police

James Armstrong and Lawrence Miller, of 593½ McPherson street, reported to police at 11:50 p. m. Saturday that $85 worth of clothing was taken from Armstrong's car parked in front of the B and W Supper club on North Adams street.

Entry was gained by breaking a ventilator window and opening the door. Taken were two pairs of trousers, two bundles of laundry containing work clothes and a blue gabardine suit.

Iodine, Dye Used To Detect Cancer

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— "Hot" iodine and a blue dye are successfully locating human brain cancers.

This new step in fighting cancer was released by the Cancer Commission of the University of Pennsylvania.

"Hot" means radioactive iodine. The dye is a form of nile blue. The blue stuff, containing a little bit of "hot" iodine is injected by hypodermic to go to the brains of persons suspected of brain cancer.

The dye, for some reason unknown, goes directly to cancers, if they exist. It coats the cancer cells and stays there. The iodine's rays are strong enough to be emitted through the skull bones.

Children's Books Tell About Firemen, Birds, and a Wish

Among the new children's books at the Mansfield Public Library is one called COME, PLAY HOUSE, by Edith Osswald. The book has numerous pictures. Pre-school age children get many wholesome ideas for amusing themselves. Older children can read the story verses that accompany the pictures.

Margaret Wise Brown has written a book called FIVE LITTLE FIREMEN that will almost make you hear the siren and smell the smoke. Here's a fire you can watch without running after the engine and you'll know that no one is really being hurt.

CHILD'S BOOK OF BIRDS by Luis Henderson will be helpful to anyone who wants to learn to know and recognize birds this spring. It tells about 26 birds, their habits, and homes. There is a large clear picture of each bird, 12 of them in full color.

MR. TOPPLE'S WISH by Audrey Chalmers is a sort of guessing book. Mr. Topple wished a wish, then he went to work very hard selling vegetables to make his wish come true. But a horse ate up all his vegetables. Then he went into the peanut business and worked hard to make his wish come true. But, squirrels ate up all his peanuts. So it went. No matter how hard he worked something happened. Then Mr. Topple went to the Old Man who told him step by step just what to do. Mr. Topple did. Now, you have to decide whether the Old Man was smart or just a good guesser. What was Mr. Topple's wish? Audrey Chalmers doesn't tell you, for sure, you have to guess what it was and why it really came true.

The next two books are for children who like short stories and lots of them in one book. ROSE FAIRY BOOK by Andrew Lang is a collection of fairy tales from France, Spain and Italy. Some of them, like "Water of Life" perhaps many already know. Others, like "What Came of Picking Flowers" are new. Almost anyone will find something new in this collection.

MORE FAVORITE STORIES OLD AND NEW collected by Sidonie Gruenberg is a most satisfyingly fat book. It has eight sections, "Boys and girls from here and there", "Of courage and adventure," "Animals around the world", "When America was younger", "Enchantme and wonder", "Humor and tall tales", "Horses and dogs" and "Mythsm fables, legends, and history." Here are stories for every teste.

LUKE BALDWIN'S VOW by Morley Callaghan is a wonderful story for anyone who ever liked a dog, owned a dog or would like to own a dog.

Salvation Army Unit In City Aids African School Project

A project, designed to help in buying equipment for the 25 schools sponsored by the Salvation Army in French Equatorial Arica, will be aided here by the Mansfield Citadel, Maj. William J. Jones, commander, announced.

The project is to be one of special effort on the part of the Corps Cadets, Maj. Jones said. Help in obtaining supplies for continuance of the schools in the Brazzaville area in Africa has been asked of all eastern Army posts and the project was endorsed by the area Salvation Army commissioner.

The schools in Brazzaville have an enrollment of 1,000 boys and 500 girls and are the only schools in the area.

Young people of the Salvation Army Corps or anyone else who may be interested may contribute any of several items to the Mansfield headquarters on South Main street and they will be sent on for distribution, Maj. Jones said.

These items include blotters, scissors, slates and slate pencils, pencils, paste, either in tubes or jars, compasses, rulers, Bible pictures, and colored construction.

Flags, Trumpets Hail Proclamation of Ireland's Freedom

Thousands Throng To Dublin

Britain, U. S. Send Good Will

DUBLIN —(INS)— Flags, trumpets, a 21-gun salute and cheering Irishmen greeted the proclamation today of the Free Republic of Ireland.

In symbolic and historic ceremonies, Eire ended all formal ties with Great Britain on the 33rd anniversary of the bloody Easter rebellion that marked Ireland's final—and successful—bid for freedom.

Ireland's independence day hereafter will be celebrated on Easter Monday in memory of the 1916 revolt.

Thousands of Irishmen swarmed into Dublin to celebrate the event although former Prime Minister Eamon De Valera withheld the support of his party.

De Valera disavowed the celebrating because the six counties of northern Ireland—Ulster—remain part of the united kingdom.

But this fact seemed to cast no damper on the spirit of crowds in Dublin, Athlone, Cavan, Galway, Limerick and other Irish centers.

The ceremonies beginning at one minute after midnight marked an end to the external relations act of 1936 by which Eire diplomats were accredited through the British crown. It severed the last link between Ireland and Britain.

Officials in both nations, however, predicted that ties between the countries will remain strong. Among the first messages of good will received were greetings from King George VI and prime ministers of the British commonwealth nations.

Promptly at 12:01 a. m. (8:01 p. m. EST Sunday) a fanfare or trumpets sounded near the postoffice in O'Connel street in Dublin where the Easter rebellion began.

This was followed by the roar of 21 guns from O'Connel bridge over the Liffey river. Then government officials and the great, jubilant crowds joined in singing the Irish national anthem.

The O'Connel street post office was lighted by floodlights and plaques with the arms of the four provinces of Ireland—Ulster, Munster, Connaught and Leinster.

President Sean T. O'Kelly and Prime Minister John Costello were present at the historic ceremonies and led the crowd in the cheering.

Ireland's long and usually stormy association with Britain began with the invasion of 1169. Thereafter there were at least seven major uprisings, in 1598, 1641, 1649, 1690, 1803 and 1867.

Most of Ireland's great patriots, such as Tyrone and Parnell, were associated in the battle for freedom.

Past." Dr. Ralph Wadsworth sang "Open the Gates of the Temple."

Following the services the Masons returned to the Temple for breakfast, where 425 members and their wives and friends dined on ham and eggs.

While the Masons were holding services several hundred young people of the Mansfield area and their elders were worshipping at the First Presbyterian church.

This was the second annual sunrise service held here by the senior class of the Mansfield Senior high school. It was held in cooperation with the Richland County Christian Youth Council.

Speaker was Thomas Wolford, Hamma Divinity School student and son of Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Wolford of Mansfield.

Wolford's sermon was one of the highlights of the day's worship. He spoke simply and with great persuasion of God's victory over sin and evil when He sent His Son to die for humanity.

"We are celebrating today the victorious rise of Jesus Christ not only from death, but from hell," Wolford declared. "What does this message mean to us?

TERMED HOPE FOR MEN

"It means first that we have a hope of resurrection. Jesus had to be a man or he could not have defeated Satan. If He did truly arise, then we, too, can arise. His resurrection was a preview of what will be ours.

"His resurrection was also a victory over sin and evil. His victory suddenly became our victory. He paid our debt. He set us free. He had to do this for us. We, in ourselves, are not strong enough to achieve victory over sin.

"Today we celebrate Victory For Jesus Day. He arose not only on Easter Sunday, but He arises from His tomb every day of the year."

During the service yesterday morning a pantomime of the scene at the tomb was presented by six young people from Senior high and the council. Dick Van Voorhis was the narrator.

Thomas Swisher, president of the Senior class, presided and Rev. John G. Gensel, pastor of the St. Paul Lutheran church, gave the invocation. Prayer during the service was given by Swisher and Richard Allyn, a member of the Baptist Youth Fellowship.

Music was provided by the carriers from Senior high school with Miss Mabel Zehner at the organ.

Children's Lives of Equal Value

LITTLE MORE than a week ago millions of people over the entire country waited in anxious suspense for word regarding the fate of Kathy Fiscus, the 3½-year-old child who had fallen into an abandoned well in California.

That occurrence held nation-wide attention day after day, until the little girl's body was finally brought to the surface and funeral services held.

Thousands of dollars poured in as contributions to a fund to be divided among the voluntary workers who had labored two days and nights in an effort to save little Kathy, and the hearts of millions were torn by recital of her fate.

Last week-end, here in Mansfield, another small child—a 4-year-old girl—met sudden death when struck by a motor vehicle, but this attracted no more than local attention . . . probably for the reason that such accidents have become so common as to be lightly regarded as "unavoidable."

Yet the lives of children, by any fair estimate, must be considered of equal value and there should be equality of care in safeguarding small tots against dangers they do not recognize—as in crossing a street in the path of an approaching automobile.

Driving a motor vehicle imposes a constant responsibility to be watchful of space ahead, so as to be sure that no child or adult can step unexpectedly in front of car or truck, and while, in some instances, no legal liability is involved, the horror of a lifetime recollection of such a tragic happening is an experience that cannot be avoided by the motorist who even unavoidably causes the death or serious injury of another person.

Pyramid Clubs Won't Last Long

IF, AS REPORTED, Mansfield is actually getting a belated start in the Pyramid club racket, it may be just as well to let the gyp game run its brief course here, as it has done elsewhere.

It was the late P. T. Barnum, of circus fame, who is credited with saying, many years ago, "a sucker is born every minute"—and with the increase in population since that time it seems likely that the rate may now be three or four a minute.

Anyhow, if you read this it is quite improbable that you'll fall for the Pyramid club racket—and if you don't read this . . . well, what would you suggest in a case like that?

Caution Needed at Intersections

THAT COLLISION between two cars at the Park avenue east-Adams street intersection last Friday evening, when both drivers claimed to have had the green light, serves to direct attention to what has come to be common practice of many Mansfield motorists—rushing through intersections during the amber interval of change from green to red.

While many cities enforce requirement to stop when the amber light shows, not much attention has ever been paid to this by Mansfield traffic officers, with the result that there has been a steady increase in this dangerous practice, until now some drivers show no hesitancy in continuing through an intersection even after the shift from amber to red.

Mansfield has frequently gained unfavorable mention as a dangerous city in which to drive a car, and it is such disregard of seemingly minor violations of traffic regulations that tends to confirm that idea.

It is impossible, of course, to have an officer stationed at each downtown intersection, and about all that can be hoped for is that motorists will develop greater regard for their own safety, and for the safety of pedestrians and other motorists, than is now being evidenced.

Another 'Lonely Hearts' Victim

FEW SADDER human experiences can be imagined than the loneliness which induces response to alluring promises of what are known as "Lonely Hearts" organizations, which have developed a profitable racket over the country, and into which a number of crimes have entered—including murder of unsuspecting victims.

Latest in revelations along this line comes from Dover, Del., where the disappearance of an aged man from Bedford, Va., resulted in an investigation which brought disclosure that he was murdered, after visiting a woman he had met through Lonely Hearts correspondence.

Danger lurks in any approach to matrimony through correspondence with strangers—especially for elderly men and women who have money or property—and warning against schemers engaged in such nefarious rackets cannot be too strongly stressed.

What Students Think of Teachers

THE PRACTICE of giving students a chance to rate their teachers according to teaching ability and technique has been followed by some colleges and universities. It has received considerable publicity lately, much of it stemming from a suggestion that student ratings be used as a basis for promotions and salary scales. But there is general agreement among educators that student ratings are neither intended for nor suited to such use.

But student rating does have its advantages, one of which is to broaden the experience and thinking of the student. Both good and bad criticism can be expected in the ratings. College instructors and administrators should be able to distinguish between the good and the bad. Sound criticism can be useful in improving not only the individual instructor but the whole teaching system.

What Some Other People Are Saying

REP. CANNON (D) Mo., chairman of the House appropriations committee: "In view of the proposed military expenditures for Western Europe on top of the five and one-half billion Marshall Plan authorization, both Congress and the country should have the opportunity to see the whole picture."

* * *

REP. TABER (R) N. Y., Republican economy leader: "The unvarnished truth is that the administration is hitting an all-time high in peacetime spending. Local, state and federal taxes amount to over 37 per cent of the total spendable income of the American people."

* * *

SEN. GEORGE (D) Ga., chairman of the Senate finance committee: "Nobody can expect members of Congress to cut down on our domestic programs unless we first make a reduction in foreign spending. If we are going to pare down anywhere we must start there."

Those Hardy Perennials Are Up.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

New Proposal Would Socialize Farms

WELL, ladies and gentlemen, this is it! The relatively mild experimentation of the Wallace-Roosevelt regime in agriculture, which induced many Americans to believe they were seeing the beginnings of socialism, has been succeeded by a plan which seems to be the real thing.

The program recently presented to the agriculture committees of Congress by Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan would, if enacted, transform a large part of our economy over night.

Large farmers would be stigmatized as a species closely resembling the kulaks of Russia, who were regarded by the revolution as enemies of the state. And small farmers would enter a life of well-heeled servitude. The kulaks would either liquidate themselves or reorganize as cooperatives.

And the federal government through the department of agriculture would rule the life and probably direct the votes of about a fifth of the population.

Veiled as a mere transformation from "price parity support" to "income parity," the Brannan plan for agriculture is in its essense a guarantee of the present high farm income.

But it has an important exception. American farmers who produce more than a specified amount of commodities—roughly, a volume envisaged at something around $26,000 worth a year in today's purchasing power—would be denied price support beyond that amount.

This would, it is estimated, affect two per cent of the nation's farms, but about 25 per cent of the nation's farm production.

* * *

Based On New Deal Idea.

A GUARANTEED income would be measured on the basis of a 10 years' average income (1939-1948) in cash receipts, multiplied by the index of "prices paid by farmers" for what they have to buy.

Thus, the nation would pay three times as much as the prewar cost for the guaranteed commodities, while the real change in the purchasing power of the dollar would warrant only something less than twice the prewar figure.

The farming community thus supported would include, as indicated above, about 98 per cent of producers. Those producers would be subject to an over-all discipline. Every vital decision of the farmer would be prescribed for him—acreage, marketing quota, soil usage, etc.

Large producers would have a number of alternative courses to take. Those raising non-perishable commodities might survive through low-cost production and through the artificial maintenance of high prices.

However, in the large segment of our farming area which produces perishable products, large farming units would probably be divided and sold or converted into cooperatives.

It should be noted that this blow at farmers with incomes over $26,000 suggests the intention of the Roosevelt administration a few years ago to limit all incomes to $25,000 by taxation. (In his more voluble moments Harry Hopkins used to tell his rich friends that the New Deal intended to limit them to $17,000 a year.)

This new plan no doubt originated among the same group of economists who used to expound a plan of a $2,500-a-year income for everyone. It is a dream guaranteed to elect and elect and make everyone happy. Freedom would vanish, but to a reformer that would not matter.

Frankly Speaking

Just What Did He Say?

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — This story has a moral: You have to keep your eyes and ears open or you'll miss something.

The House was debating — it later approved — a defense program of about $16,000,000,000.

Up stood Rep. Clarence Cannon, Missouri Democrat, to tell the House he thought a big wad of the dough ought to be spent on long range planes.

This is where ears and eyes became important. For the next day the New York Times reported Cannon as saying, among other things, that if war started—

"Moscow and every other center in Russia, we must hit withing one week after the war starts, and it can be done only by land - based planes such as we now have.

"We will not necessarily have to send our land army over there. In the next war, as in the last war, let us equip soldiers from other nations and let them send their boys into the holocausts instead of sending our own boys. That is what long-range planes mean.

"We will absolutely demoralise the enemy. We will destroy all his lines of communications. We will blast at the centers of operation, and then let our allies send the army in, other boys, not our boys, to hold the ground we win."

Our future allies, reading that in the Times, might get the impression that we were thinking of doing the blasting while our allies did the dying on the battlefield.

* * *

Milder Version

BUT when the Congressional Record of Cannon's spech came out the next day, this particular part didn't read the same way. It sounded milder in the Record. It said:

"Of course, a war could not be won by air power alone. There must be troops for occupation and Navy ships for transportation. But under the Marshall Plan and the Atlantic Pact we will have allies with troops and ships who should also be given an opportunity to discharge their obligations as contracting powers.

"Why not let them contribute some of the boys needed to occupy enemy territory after we have demoralized and annihilated the enemy territory from the air?

"We followed that plan in the last war and American boys are living today whose bones would be mouldering in alien soil had we insisted on rushing them in when our allies had an obligation to participate and were willing to send in their boys as a fair share of their contribution to the war to the defense of their people and their civilization."

Which version is correct? The one in the New York Times, noted for its accuracy, which is the same version for our own Associated Press reporters had? Or the version which appeared in the Congressional Record?

I checked with a number of reporters. They checked their notes. All of them agreed Cannon had made the speech reported by the AP and the New York Times, and not what appeared in the Congressional record.

I called Cannon and asked him. He said he hadn't read the published account quoted above. But he also said he did not know whether that's what he said on the floor. Why?

He said he was excited at the time. He said he had gone on the floor with a prepared text. And it's his prepared text which appears in the Congressional Record.

Then I asked him if he — as many congressmen do — altered what the stenographer had taken down on the floor of the House before it could be printed in the Congressional Record.

No, he hadn't touched the Congressional Record after he made his speech, he said.

If the historians of our times come rooting around to find out what was happening last week, they'll have to make up their minds between the published accounts of what Cannon said, and the Congressional Record, which is a handy source book of congressional doings.

Democrats See Hope In Special Session

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — A tip-off that the Democrats are definitely planning a special session of Congress this summer was let out of the bag the other day by Senate majority leader Scott Lucas. He tipped his hand in a recent private conversation with Sen. James Eastland, Mississippi Dixiecrat.

Eastland stopped Lucas in the Senate cloakroom and with a shrug toward the Senate floor, remarked:

"What are the Republicans doing, trying a slow filibuster to wreck the President's program."

"Yeah," snorted Lucas, looking both ways to make sure no Republicans were within earshot. "But they're just cutting their own throats. We're going to get the President's program through.

"We're going to let them go on like they are until we adjourn," he continued. "Then we'll call a special session this summer and come back and pass the President's program. After that, we'll go to the people and tell them the reason we had to call a special session was because the Republicans caused a sitdown strike in the United States Senate.

"There isn't a man on the Republican side who has any idea of politics," Lucas added. "As long as they have men like Wherry (minority leader Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska). they're not going to get anywhere."

* * *

Tidelands Oil.

SALT LAKE CITY'S dignified, white-haired postmaster, I. A. Smoot, called on President Truman the other day to plead for a strong hand in crushing the oil lobby. The lobby is now pushing another bill through Congress to restore the rich tidelands oil to the states.

There was no hedging in Truman's reply.

"As long as I am President," he declared, "I will never permit the submerged oil lands to go back to the states."

* * *

Taft and New Deal.

PROBABLY more than anyone else, Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio is the personification of the Republican party. Therefore, when he called for a broader social program in an off-the-cuff speech the other day, it had the effect of shifting the GOP cornerstone a few points to the left.

Taft's statement was delivered behind closed doors and was meant only for the ears of Republican senators. Part of what he said has already leaked to the press, but for the first time here is the full story of what happened.

The stage was set for Taft's remarks by his Ohio colleague Sen. John Bricker, who called for a tightening of the economic belt and a return to the standards of Republican thrift.

Bricker's preaching was chiefly aimed against public housing, and in favor of his neat strategy to kill public housing by tacking an anti-segregation amendment on the bill.

This would drag civil rights into the housing fight and split the Democratic party right down the Mason-Dixon Line.

Bricker suggested limiting debate on the anti-segregation amendment by two-thirds cloture and, for political reasons, divorcing the arguments from the public-housing issue.

* * *

Taft Gets Tense.

AFTER more of this kind of talk from Mundt of South Dakota and Malone of Nevada, Taft jumped to his feet and tensely took the arch-conservatives to task. It was time, he declared, to draw the line between the Democratic and Republican parties. The difference, he said, was not in ideals but in methods.

"The Republicans stand for improved standards of living," he crackled. "But we believe in welfare without regimentation."

He contended that federal aid for housing, health and education "do not depart from the basic principles" of the Constitution.

Republicans are already supporting welfare programs in the cities — including slum clearance, free medical service and free education, he pointed out. Federal aid was just an extension of this program, he said.

"Of course Republicans must support the free-enterprise system," Taft warned. "But we had better take care of those in the lowest income brackets or we will lose the free-enterprise system."

He then invited Senators Bricker, Mundt and Malone to "come down and take a look at our slum conditions."

"If we follow the Mundt-Malone line," he warned, "there won't be any Republican party."

* * *

Bricker's Background.

TAFT got a big hand from his colleagues, after which Bricker broke in sharply.

"I don't want to be placed in the category of someone who is against people," he snapped. "All my life I have given 10 to 15 per cent of my income to charity. For several years I have served on the Community Chest. I am as deeply concerned about the common man as anyone else."

Bricker didn't mention, of course, the fact that he is a director of the Buckeye State Building and Loan Association, affiliated with the powerful U. S. Savings and Loan League, and a part of the real estate and anti-housing lobby. At one time the League's bulletin gleefully boasted how Bricker had obligingly introduced four Senate bills to help the lobby.

The man who got Bricker his job with Buckeye is his staunch political supporter, John Galbreath, a power among Ohio real estate-financial circles. Ohio politicians sometimes say that Bricker does not even shave in the morning without consulting Galbreath.

Senate colleagues recall that William L. Kaiser, an ex-Capitol policeman, once fired two wild shots at Bricker in the Senate subway. Kaiser claimed he lost money in the building and loan association run by Galbreath and closed by Bricker when attorney general of Ohio.

'Civil Rights' Live Issue

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — Occasionally a speech in Congress on a major, controversial issue, though attracting little public notice at the time, gradually acquires cumulative force through quiet discussion among men seeking solutions to problems that deeply involve human emotions and prejudices.

Such has been the effect, it is now discovered, of speeches in Congress in recent weeks on the civil-rights issue by two men of proved sincerity, earnestness of purpose, good faith and good will.

One was in the House by Rep. Brooks Hays (D., Ark), a "Deep-South" southerner, proposing a compromise program discussed here at the time. The other was in the Senate by a middle westerner of progressive reputation, Senator Paul H. Douglas (D., Ill.).

Senator Douglas exhibited such a tolerant and understanding attitude toward the South that Senator Richard B. Russell (D., Ga.) confessed himself "disarmed" during a general exploration of the whole problem.

The discussion between the two men was in a temperate and friendly manner that contrasted with the bitterness manifest during the filibuster against the administration's proposed rules changes—in which it was an interlude—which was directed by the Georgia senator.

The latter concluded that he and his Illinois colleague were "not so far apart," though they might have a different approach, and private discussions since of this episode and Rep. Hays' speech among administration leaders have, it is learned, suggested the basis of a possible eventual compromise on at least a partial civil-rights program to which a majority of Democrats in Congress might subscribe as a party program.

* * *

Will Be Delayed.

NOTHING is to be done about civil-rights legislation in the near future. Leaders do not want to stir up this issue soon again. But their hope of accomplishing something on civil rights in the 81st Congress, even if not the whole program, has been increased by developments following the two speeches.

In view of this situation this reporter sought out Senator Russell to see to what lengths he would go. He said he would support a constitutional amendment to ban the poll tax, though not a simple statute; a federal anti-lynching law that protected the rights of states and which would be directed at mob violence everywhere in the country and not aimed only at the South; and, on the highly controversial Fair Employment Practices Commission, would favor removal of discrimination in employment against Negroes and other minorities so they would receive the same pay as others for the same work.

He is against extension of F. E. P. C. to what he calls "social purposes," that is, for the elimination of segregation. He said he would not object to Rep. Hays' proposal for a fair employment division in the labor department with only consultative and advisory authority.

Senator Douglas, in his discussion, drew a distinction between the elaborate program of the President's civil rights commission and the Democratic platform, which he said he supported and which called for only four steps—anti-poll tax and anti-lynching statutes, equal treatment in the armed services which he said meant that Negroes should be allowed to serve in combat units, and F. E. P. C.

On the last he said his objective was some arrangement to "protect people of all races, creeds and colors which, at the same time, will give the maximum of local self-government."

The objective, he declared, was to help people of the south, black as well as white, by seeing that no man was deprived of the right to earn a living because of race, creed or color. Every person, he added, should have a chance to develop in industry according to his ability.

Farmer's Diary

A Spark On Shingles

By CALVIN A. BYERS

From the kitchen window, we saw a tall man running across the wide lowland meadow, last Sunday morning. His legs moved with a rhythm that made twinkling of light as he crossed the hilltop rise and disappeared into the pasture along Honey Creek.

"What's wrong?" we wondered of each other. "Is somebody sick—is he going to call a doctor?"

"Acts like he's going to a fire!"

"Sure—that's it! Bert's house is on fire! Listen—there's the fire alarm . . . look at the cars begin to race in that direction!"

We went out into the yard behind our house. Over across the creek—a half mile away, on the other side of our valley—we could see heavy white smoke rolling out of one end of the white farmhouse.

While we watched, flames began to flash, red and yellow, from the roof. Long strings of motor cars raced along our own side of the valley. The other road was congested something awful.

Three boys grabbed their hats and set off on foot across the field. I went up the slope to where I could get a clearer view. The smallest boy was with me. Many times, from our slope, I have looked across to enjoy what my neighbor was doing.

This time concern, dismay and pity were all present as I saw his neat farm home going up in smoke. It looked for awhile as though they could not save any part of the house.

Then gradually, flames gave way to steam, part of the roof was torn off by the firemen, and after an hour our boys came home to report that the worst was over.

The volunteer firemen had raced out from the village — some wearing their Sunday best clothes, for this happened just at the church hour.

"People didn't know what to do to help," one boy said. "I helped carry out the canned fruit from the cellar and stack it on the lawn. I wonder if there'll be anybody to help Bert get it back on the shelves again—must've been 400 cans. Ten men carried out the deep freeze, with all the meat in it, and took it into town to store it for awhile. Others carried out the furniture and stoves. The fire started on the shingle roof—from a spark, I guess. The upper floor got hurt the most."

Other comments overheard were: "Well anyway, they've got their kitchen and their food . . . The wind, luckily, was so it blew away from the barns. . . The weather can't stay cold so much longer . . . and nobody had a heart attack! Bert and Jerry looked sober enough, there awhile, but I'll bet they'll remodel aplenty before autumn . . . It could have been worse. What if she'd finished all her spring housecleaning beforehand! . . . what if we didn't have a village fire department that would help in an emergency?"

Bus Service to Loudonville to Resume on Next Monday

New Concern Franchised; Sets 4 Trips

Flying Cloud Line Quit 3 Months Ago

LOUDONVILLE —Bus service between here and Mansfield will be resumed next Monday Four daily round trips are scheduled.

W. O. Bunting, local taxi operater, secured the franchise last week from the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio. The new concern will be known as the Loudonville-Mansfield Bus Line.

There has been no direct bus service to Mansfield for the past three months. The Flying Cloud Line, which formerly operated over the route, discontinued service early this year and permitted its franchise to lapse.

Otis Huffer has been employed as driver on the new bus line. There will be four round trips daily—at 5 and 9 a. m. and at 1 and 4 p. m. The 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. trips also will be made on Sundays and holidays.

The last afternoon bus will leave Mansfield at 5:10 p. m. for the return trip.

The Flying Cloud Line suspended service on Jan. 15. Financial trouble forced the suspension, it was announced by Russell A. Reed, assistant secretary. H. T. Manner, attorney for the firm, had served as president until the first of the year and later reorganization attempts proved futile. R. E. Hoover was vice president of the Flying Cloud Line.

The Flying Cloud Line operated from Mansfield to Millersburg. It served persons in the area east and southeast of Mansfield who depended upon it for transportation into Mansfield. With the disruption of service these passengers had to arrange for other means of travel.

New China Battle Looms

NANKING—(UP)— Renewed fighting between nationalist and communist troops within the next 48 hours appeared a possibility today as result of a communist ultimatum demanding that the nationalist government sign a peace settlement by Wednesday.

The communist radio said the peace settlement demanded by communist negotiators at Peiping was in the form of eight terms and 24 points.

One of the 24 points called for an immediate communist crossing of the Yangtze river on a wide front between Nanking and Shanghai as soon as the peace agreement is signed.

"This we can not consider," a high nationalist source said. "We will rather risk war than accede to it.

"If the communists cross the river we will be held in their military grip and probably will all be prisioners of war in no time. Under such conditions there can be no peace."

April Cold To Ease

Almost every unpleasant trick known to the weatherman was tossed at Mansfielders Easter Sunday and he continued the rough treatment today. It all happened after forecasters said Easter would be a nice day, too.

Snow fell most of yesterday afternoon and last night to dampen Easter hats. The snow melted as it fell. More flurries were forecast for tonight.

Cloudy and colder with snow flurries tonight is the gloomy outlook. Tuesday will be partly cloudy with slowly rising temperatures.

The weatherman said temperatures were expected to be 10 to 12 degrees below normal over most of the state for the next couple of days. He added the "winter tendencies" are caused by a mass of cold air from the northwest.

A low of 35 degrees was recorded early today. It was 39 degrees at noon.

Court Hears Tappan Case

CINCINNATI —(AP)— The U. S. Court of Appeals, Sixth Circuit, today heard arguments in the Board's petition that its order to the Tappan Stove company of Mansfield, O., be enforced. The court took the case under advisement.

In March, 1946, the NLRB ordered the stove company not to dominate or give financial support to the independent employes union at its plant and, at the same time, not to treat CIO Electrical Workers at the plant unfairly. The NLRB also directed the company to reinstate four discharged employes, James S. Posito, Wayne Kellogg, Frank Wolford and Ronald Heppinger.

The NLRB petition to the Appellate Court was filed Oct. 13, 1948.

PRE-NUPTIAL SHOWER GIVEN FOR MISS FIEDLER

Friends Honor Bride-Elect With Luncheon Bridge and Miscellaneous Shower Saturday.

FRIENDS COMPLIMENTED Miss Margaret Fiedler, bride-elect, Saturday afternoon with a luncheon-bridge and miscellaneous shower. Hostesses for the affair held at the Scott home, 395 Park avenue west, were Mrs. Thomas H. Scott, Mrs. Wayne Wright of Ashland, Mrs. Frances Edwards and Miss Betty Walters.

The diversion of the afternoon for the twelve guests was bridge. When the scores were tallied, prizes were awarded to Mrs. Fred Zumsteg, first; Mrs. Frank Mengert, second, and Mrs. Rupert Cox jr., traveling.

Miss Fiedler was presented with a card table and chairs from the hostesses.

When the luncheon was served, the three small tables were centered with arrangements of coral sweetpeas in crystal baskets.

Miss Fiedler, the bride-elect of Richard B. Schwab, will be wed April 23 in St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church, with the Rev. John C. Melchert officiating for the formal open church ceremony. The nuptials will be spoken at 3:45 with a half hour organ recital preceding.

LONGER SHORTS

New, longer shorts this season are planned especially for active ports, and to hide your figure's slight shortcomings, reports the May "Two Weeks wtih Pay" issue of CHARM, the Magazine for the Business Girl. The new shorts come just above the knee, and are ideal for sailing, fishing, bicycling or hiking.

Looking Through . . .

The Fashion Spy Glass

We thought you might be interested in a report we received on the Paris fashion show given April 9 by the famous French designer, Jacques Fath. The show seems to have been a mixture of skinny beanstalk skirts and fabuloulsy full ballet styles, garnished with gigantic pockets, floppy cuffs and flying overskirts.

Our report says that bodices on the styles shown were so tightly laced that the models looked as if they had breathed in and remained that way. Fath is leaving for the United States May 1 to design dresses for the mass production market, but we don't think he will go the extremes over here, that he has managed to incorporate into his show.

Fath has a reputation for daring designs and many of his fashions sported strapless bustlines. In his playwear for beach and resort fashions, he features a hectic colored assortment of strapless bodices topping brief trouser skirts, in orange gabardine. His boleros are plastered with huge army type patch pockets.

His skirt fullness on many styles, is derived from close packed unpressed pleats which burst open from the waist. Many of them are stiffened and lined throughout with contrasting material. He also seems to favor a graduated hemline on all his full skirts. One number, treated in this way came in a deep rasberry colored toile (sheer linen) lined in leaf green. It looked like a dress until a tight fitting monkey jacket was removed to reveal an opera bodice in the green beneath it.

Fath seems to be preoccupied with pocket treatments in this show. On seven-eighth length toile coats with elbow length cuffed sleeves, he has set patch pockets a foot deep.

One overskirt turned out to be a detachable stole a yard wide that draped around the neck and was held in place at the waist with a contrasting colored sash. He puts outside cape collars on sleeveless beanstalk dresses buttoned down the front.

Evening wear came mostly in tulle and organdie. Here again he used the graduated hemline technique — above the ankle in front and sweeping the floor in back.

A few months ago Fath converted flour-sack burlap into formal gowns for spring. Others designers copied the trend in the closest substitute, denim. Far removed from the blue jeans class now, the blue denim of spring, has been promoted as "the" fabric for beach, sport and even street wear. One of the instigators of the trend in this country is designer Liz Montgomery, who has fashioned a three-piece slacks, bra and pullover-skirt ensemble of blue denim for singer Mary Martin to wear in a Broadway new musical.

A fashion firm in California has announced its denim discovery of the season is iridescent denim, where glazed threads, usually of a different hue shine through the fabric. Thus, navy denim is shot through with yellow gold.

However, we'll still stick to denim for blue jeans and let someone else wear a burlap flour sack to the season's big dances.

ELECTRIC COFFEE MAKER

Stainless steel coffee-makers operated by electricity brew coffee, then reset to keep the coffee warm.

Although only two or three meteorites a year are seen to fall, the number striking the earth annually probably is at least 100.

Do You Really Want to Take Off That Ugly Fat?

Recently there have been a number of new reducing preparations on the market, some of them based on the diet and vitamin "plan." It is obvious that vitamins will not reduce the body weight, so one must depend on diet to reduce. But it is also obvious that one cannot go on a strenuous diet over a protracted period, and any weight lost will be restored if the former eating habits are gone back to.

So what to do? Well, here is a tip to you "overweight gals" who want to fight "the Battle of the Bulges" in a different way. Ask any well stocked Ohio druggist for four ounces of Rennel. Mix with 12 ounces of grapefruit juice and take two tablespoonfuls twice a day.

This preparation contains nothing harmful and the makers agree to refund your money on the very first bottle if it does not show you the way to lose ugly fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves.

Rennel is low in cost and is not based on the diet and vitamin "plan." You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Rennel. —Adv.

Special Stuffed Potatoes

STUFFED BAKED POTATOES . . . . Delicious and Economical Main Dish.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE, AP Food Editor

Are you letting potatoes share in your kitchen strategy?

Between food prices and conservation you have to maneuver menus if you want to give your family nourishing and delicious food and still stay within budget bounds. Potatoes, plentiful and economical, can help out endlessly in your menu manipulations.

Here's a delicious potato dish that uses meat economically and can be served for lunch or supper:

Special Stuffed Potatoes

4 large hot baked potatoes
⅓ to ½ cup hot milk
4 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine
Salt and pepper
1 cup cubed meat

Cut each hot baked potato in half lengthwise; or cut off a slice from each one. Scoop out inside of shell; mash or press potato through a ricer. Add hot milk, butter or margarine, salt and pepper to taste and beat until light and fluffy. Add cubed cooked meat. Pile the mixture lightly into four of the potato shells. Return stuffed potatoes to oven or broiler to brown slightly. Makes 4 servings.

Ever bake a chocolate potato cake? It's worth trying because it has a moist texture that says fresh and a spice-flavored chocolae-flecked interior that's delectable. I like to serve it warm with whipped cream for a hearty dessert.

Mexican Potato Cake

1 cup sifted enriched all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon powdered cloves
½ teaspoon powdered nutmeg
½ cup butter or fortified margarine.
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
½ cup milk
½ cup fluffy riced potatoes
1½ squares (1½ ounces) unsweetened chocolate, very coarsely grated.
½ cup finely chopped walnut or pecan meats

Sift together flour, baking powder, cinnamon, cloves, and nutmeg. Cream butter or margarine, add sugar gradually and continue to cream until light and fluffy. Add eggs, milk and potatoes. Beat thoroughly and add dry ingredients along with chocolate and half the nutmeats. Turn into 8-inch square cake pan which has been greased and then lined with waxed paper that is also greased. Sprinkle batter with remaining one-half cup nutmeats. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven for 50 to 55 mins. or until done. Turn out on cake rack, remove waxed paper, turn cake right-side up again, cut in squares and serve hot with whipped cream.

Horoscope

For Monday, April 18

MONDAY'S horoscope indicates a progessive and promising state of affairs, with the plans, resources and ambitions keyed to advanced goals. Be astute and sagacious in working out ideas with an eye to change, and new contacts. Change of scene and associations lure. Nevertheless, brilliant as the prospects seem, there may be pitfalls, schemes or some form of duplicity, subtlety or sinister intrigue. An alert vigilance from every angle could assure lucrative and interesting change.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be incited by an urge for new pastures, associations and engagements, in which fresh fields of operation offer dynamic and profitable experiences. With vigilance and prior study of varied advantages there may be pleasant and lucrative relations, with vivid and inspiring change. However, there is need for exceptional vigilance, since there may be deep-laid schemes, snares, superficially alluring and sound, but with a sinister undertone of the tricky, crafty and hypocritical, in business and personal contacts.

A child born on this day should be talented, resourceful and versatile, and should enjoy a brilliant career. It may, however, be an easy victim to crafty, subtle and dubious schemes or personages.

Be a Successful Seamstress

By ELEANOR ROSS

What to do about the high cost of really good clothes of fine material and finish?

Well, you might do as does lovely Patrice Munsel, coloratura soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and make your own.

When Patrice turns up at rehearsal in a smart new number, her colleagues don't ask if it is a Mainbocher or Molyneux. They know it's a Munsel.

Interested in making her own wardrobe since her high school days in Spokane, Washington, the brilliant young American prima donna has evolved all manner of tricks of the trade. Furthermore, she has grown up with a good sense of values, and with the firm conviction that just because a dress is made at home, it doesn't have to have that home-made look.

First of all, the wise Patrice says, one reason why home-made clothes get that look is because women lack patience in carrying out a sewing project. Enthusiastic at first, many of them peter out, and in their rush to get the job done with, they aren't too careful about the fitting. Thus, Patrice cautions, don't put a deadline on what you do, expecially if the sewing is a new venture.

For best results, the singer says, get some unbleached muslin up to 100 inches wide, and lay your pattern on this first. Patrice has had years of experience in making her own clothes but she still makes up each new dress in muslin first, before cutting it out in the actual fabric. Doing it this way, she has found she can iron out any kinks that may develop as the sewing progresses, and thus avoid the risk of ruining expensive material. Another of her practical tips has to do with gathering a skirt. She advises dividing it first into halves, then into quarters, adjusting each quarter separately.

In that way she doesn't get more gathers in one place than in another. When using sheer fabric, she places a strip of newspaper under the material and this helps form even gathers. Then the paper is torn off.

Patrice covers buttons herself, and does a fine professional job of it. For metallic fabrics or satin, both of which tend to ravel, she uses colorless nail polish on the circle of fabric that is to cover the button. The polish also prevents the fabric from cutting or splitting when stretched over a button.

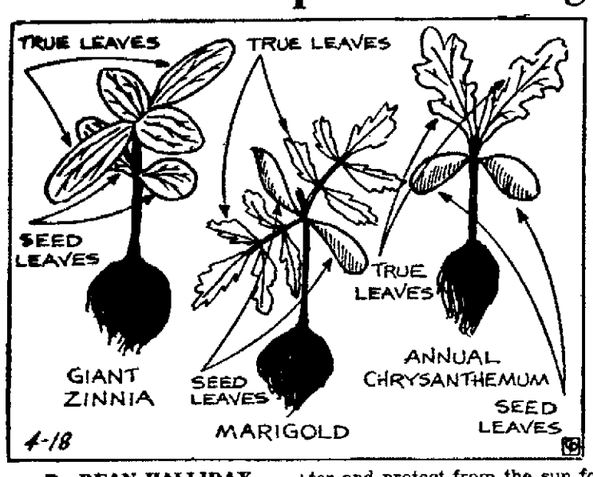
Today's Garden Graph

How to Transplant Seedlings



By DEAN HALLIDAY
Central Press

When the "true leaves" make their appearance on seedlings of annuals it is time for their first transplanting

True leaves are the second pair of leaves to appear, and, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, they follow the first pair of leaves, which are known as the "seed leaves."

In preparation for transplanting, water the flat several hours before the seedlings are to be lifted, so that the soil will more readily cling to their roots. Use an ordinary table fork to lift each seedling, taking care not to loosen the ball of earth around the roots.

Make a hole, with a small pointed stick or dibble, in the soil to which the seedling is to be transplanted. The hole should be large enough to permit inserting the plant without crowding its roots. Plant to the depth of the first, or seed leaves Press the soil gently, but firmly around each plant.

The first transplanting should be from one flat to another. Place the transplanted seedlings two inches apart each way Water and protect from the sun for several days

The second transplanting can be into two-inch pots, or into another flat with the plants spaced four inches apart each way. If the transplanting is into pots, it is well to use peat pots for later the plants, pot and all, can be set out in the garden.

Flats containing seedlings should be weeded regularly, otherwise the rapid growth of the weeds will deprive the seedling plants of food, moisture and light. Weeding also helps to aerate the soil.

Fresh dill, chopped, is delicious in a white sauce to serve over fish that has been baked, broiled or steamed. If the fresh dill is not available, use the dried.

Thought Mate Was Brother, Married Her

PAISLEY, SCOTLAND — (UP) — The white haired judge called it the most astounding story of bigamy he ever had heard

The story was told by Mrs. Amelia Watson, 53, mother of a grown son and daughter. She was the bigamist.

Mrs. Watson had been married happily to the same man for 30 years and still was. But in wartime nearly eveyone opened his home to soldiers billeted nearby. The Watsons did, and a British soldier, Griffith Owen Jones, became a regular visitor.

He thought Mr. and Mrs. Watson were brother and sister.

One night in 1943 Mrs. Watson left her home to go to the movies with Jones. Instead they went to a church in a nearby town and were married. Jones went overseas the next day.

He returned to Paisley in 1945 after he was discharged to join his wife. But the arrangement was unsatisfactory. He slept with the "brother" while his wife slept with her grown daughter.

Thinking to solve the problem, he took his wife to his home in Middlesex, Eng. But she ran away and rejoined her family in Scotland. Not until Jones made inquiries to police did he find out the situation.

That's why Mrs. Watson was in court yesterday.

"I love my husband and family," Mrs. Watson said, sobbing. But she could not explain why she happened to marry Jones.

"What could I do?" the judge inquired. "It would have been cruelty to send the woman to prison and absurd with regard to the husband to impose a fine."

So he advised Mrs. Watson not to commit bigamy again.
